Motion to Compel Binding Arbitration

The motion to compel arbitration is DENIED.

Plaintiff's objection to the Declaration of Ameripour in Support of Defendant's Motion to Compel is OVERRULED.

Plaintiff's objection to the Declaration of Ameripour in Support of Defendant's Reply is SUSTAINED.

Even when an agreement provides that it is governed by the FAA, courts must first apply state law principles in determining whether the parties entered into an agreement to arbitrate. (Garcia v. Stoneledge Furniture LLC (2024) 102 Cal.App.5th 41, 51.)

When a motion to compel arbitration is filed and accompanied by prima facie evidence of a written agreement to arbitrate the controversy, the court itself must determine: (1) whether the agreement exists, and (2) if any defense to its enforcement is raised, whether it is enforceable. The moving party bears the burden of proving the existence of an arbitration agreement by a preponderance of the evidence. The party claiming a defense
