

again represented, communications about the deficient discovery responses resumed March 18, 2026 and continued until recently. Defendants amendment responses April 22, May 8, and May 13, 2026. Plaintiff promptly notified the Court on May 14, 2026 that all substantive issues have now been addressed.

Given Defendant Bryan Raymond's inaction (on his own behalf and on behalf of his company) in acquiring required counsel and the effect of that delay in requiring Plaintiff to file this (and related) motions, sanctions are appropriate. Code of Civ. Pro. § 2023.030. The sanctions will not issue against his current counsel. While the Court would have appreciated slightly more expeditious resolution of these issues, sufficient work was done to remedy the substantive concerns in a reasonable fashion that the attorneys will not be penalized.

HEARING ON MOTION FOR DISCOVERY COMPEL FURTHER RESPONSES TO REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS

FILED BY: YEFENAU, PAVEL

TENTATIVE RULING:

Defendant Pavel Yefenau brings this Motion to Compel Further Responses to Amended Responses to Defendant's First Set of Request for Production of Documents served on Plaintiff Maria Seredkina. Plaintiff opposed this Motion on the grounds that the amended responses have now been amended again, rendering the Motion moot. Defendant's reply objects to this premise but also alleges that two responses remain inadequate.

Background

This matter involves alleged invasion of privacy by Defendant, Plaintiff's husband, in the discovery of Plaintiff's extramarital affair.¹ This is the fourth discovery motion on calendar in the last month relating to Plaintiff's deficient discovery responses. On April 30, the Court heard three motions, all of which involved last-minute amendments by Plaintiff purportedly rendering the motions moot. On those motions, the Court granted sanctions. Once again, Plaintiff has amended discovery responses "concurrently with [her] opposition." Defendant argues that Requests 9 and 16 still contain insufficient responses.

Analysis

Request for Production of Documents No. 9

Defendant seeks documents relating to Defendant's access of Plaintiff's devices without her consent. Plaintiff responded by referencing produced documents relating to a forensic audit of her devices. As Defendant explains, this audit revealed no hacking or compromise of the devices. Defendant complains that the response is inadequate because it fails to acknowledge that there was no unauthorized access of the devices. While Defendant—on the information before the Court—appears to be correct, that is an argument for later and does not render this discovery response inadequate.

Request for Production of Documents No. 16

Defendant seeks documents relating to Plaintiff's employer's response to reports of unauthorized access of her work devices. Plaintiff referenced a portion of a text between Plaintiff and her employer. Defendant argues that Plaintiff never produced the entire communication, which Defendant had to subpoena from the employer. That full communication, however, contains no further information responsive to this discovery request. Indeed, it appears that the employer did not further respond to these reports. Again, Defendant appears to be arguing that Plaintiff has no evidence to support her claims, but that does not render this discovery response inadequate.

Sanctions

Defendant also seeks sanctions in the amount of $2,910.00. Plaintiff has amended responses and claims that renders the motion moot, and on that basis believes the request for sanctions should be denied. California Rule of Court 3.1348(a) provides: "The court may award sanctions under the Discovery Act in favor of a party who files a motion to compel discovery, even though . . . the requested discovery was provided to the moving party after the motion was filed." Sanctions here are appropriate. The Court has previously addressed that Plaintiff's behavior increases the burden on the other party and the Court and is not proper. The Court awards sanctions in the amount of $2,910.00 against Plaintiff Maria Seredkina and her counsel, Joseph Goethals of Goethals & Stone, P.C., payable within 60 days of the date of the order.

HEARING ON MOTION FOR DISCOVERY QUASH DEPOSITION SUBPOENA FOR PRODUCTION OF RECORDS

FILED BY: MASCHMEIER, VICTORIA

TENTATIVE RULING:

Before the Court is third-party Victoria Maschmeier's Motion to Quash Deposition Subpoena for Production of Records; and Request for Monetary Sanctions. For the reasons set forth below, the Motion is granted.

In December 2025, Plaintiff Maria Seredkina served a subpoena on Google, LLC Corporation Service Company for documents relating to third-party Victoria Maschmeier. Ms. Maschmeier became aware of this subpoena because she received a notice from Google on December 18, 2025 notifying her of the subpoena and the obligation to file a Motion to Quash (and provide notice of it to Google) by January 8, 2026. Her counsel reached out to counsel for Seredkina and requested that the subpoena be withdrawn. That was not done prior to January 8, 2026, and Maschmeier filed the instant motion, and it was scheduled for hearing May 28, 2026. Ms. Maschmeier argues that she was never provided notice of the subpoena, and has still never received copies.

On May 15, 2026, Plaintiff filed an opposition to this motion noting that on May 12, counsel had
