ORDER RE MOTION TO COMPEL PMK DEPOS

In reviewing the submitted motion, the Court finds it does not comply with requirements for the Court's review. Plaintiff Rosa Stephenson improperly combined three separate requests for relief into one motion. Improper combination of motions not only denies the Court requisite filing fees, but also circumvents limitations placed on the Court's calendar in order to ensure all motions can be properly reviewed on the merits prior to issuing a ruling.

Stephenson moved for relief under California Code of Civil Procedure section 2025.240, which allows a party to move to compel the deposition of a single deponent. There is no statutory basis to combine motions to compel depositions of different deponents, especially deponents associated with different defendants.

Generally speaking, motions may only be combined pursuant to Court order. The Court issued no such order requesting parties consolidate discovery motions.

The Court denies the motion, without prejudice, on procedural grounds. Stephenson may file new, separate motions, on these issues. The Court encourages the relevant parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the dispute without further court intervention.

[TENTATIVE] ORDER CONTINUING MOTION TO COMPEL FURTHER DISCOVERY RESPONSES TO [DISCOVERY SET AT ISSUE]

Plaintiffs Rosa Stephenson and Penny Lyles move for an order compelling Defendant Shlomo Rechnitz ("Rechnitz") to produce further responses to Form Interrogatories, Set Two, and Request for Admissions, Set Two, in addition to paying $3,120.00 in sanctions to Plaintiffs.

Plaintiffs' motion will be continued to a new date as set forth below. NO HEARING WILL TAKE PLACE ON JULY 9, 2026,

Pursuant to the Court's power to "amend and control its process and orders so as to make them conform to law and justice" (Code Civ. Proc., § 128, subd. (a)(8)), the Court orders the parties in this case to participate in an Informal Discovery Conference ("IDC") with the Court. Lead or other designated counsel for the parties with full authority are ordered to participate in person in an IDC. After consulting with opposing counsel regarding available dates, Plaintiffs must make a prompt reservation for the IDC using the Court's online reservation system. The parties shall meet and confer, and Plaintiffs shall file a joint statement (five pages or less) addressing all pending motions to compel in the department three days prior to the IDC.

The Court will continue the discovery motions for approximately 45 days to allow the moving party to confirm an IDC date on calendar. Once the Court has conducted the IDC, then the discovery motions can be ruled upon, if necessary. The parties are ordered to come prepared with all necessary materials to make the IDC hearing successful. Prior to the IDC date, lead or other designated counsel for the parties, with full authority, are to meet and confer, in person or via telephone in a further attempt to resolve as many of the issues as possible before the IDC. (See Cal. Rule of Court Rule 3.670, subd. (f)(2).) If the parties resolve their discovery disputes before the IDC date, Plaintiffs are ordered to take both the IDC and the motion off calendar as soon as possible.

Plaintiffs are ordered to provide notice of this Order.
