No.

9- Robert Hunanyan, et al. v. Children's Hospital Los Angeles, et al.

Defendant

Children's Hospital Los Angeles's Motion for Protective Order Limiting

Plaintiff's Retained Expert Witnesses

Defendant

Children's Hospital Los Angeles moves for a protective order limiting Plaintiff's retained expert witnesses.

Code

of Civil Procedure section 2034.250 permits a party who has been served with a demand to exchange information concerning expert trial witnesses to promptly move for a protective order. The court, for good cause shown, may make any order that justice requires to protect any party from unwarranted annoyance, embarrassment, oppression, or undue burden and expense. (Code Civ. Proc., § 2034.250(b).)

Here,

Plaintiff served his Designation of Expert Witnesses on Defendant on July 13, 2026. It included two experts, both of whom Defendant claims will provide cumulative testimony on standard of care and causation: Sumeet Raj Gopwani, M.D. and Adam C. Adler, M.S. M.D. FAAP, FASE. On July 31, 2026, Plaintiff served a Supplemental Designation of Expert Witnesses, listing an additional expert, whom Defendant also claims will provide cumulative testimony: J. Carlos Maggi, M.D. Defendant asks this Court to order Plaintiff to limit his retained expert witnesses so that it may avoid the undue burden and expense of conducting depositions on all three experts.

The

Court does not find good cause to issue the protective order. There is no evidence currently before the Court that these experts will provide duplicative testimony at trial. Without knowing what each expert will testify about, the Court will not speculate and prematurely decide the issue.

To

the extent Defendant still takes issue with these designations after expert discovery is complete, Defendant may bring a motion in limine to address it. In addition, if it appears Plaintiff designated all three witnesses to conceal which expert will ultimately testify at trial, or increase Defense counsel's costs, a motion for sanctions may be entertained in the future.

Disposition

Defendant

Children's Hospital Los Angeles's motion for protective order limiting Plaintiff's retained expert witnesses is denied without prejudice.
