NHN Global, Inc. v. Paul Sheene Corporation, Paul Sheene, individually

[TENTATIVE] ORDER TAKING THE DEMURRER TO PLAINTIFF'S COMPLAINT OFF CALENDAR (1705)

The

complaint alleges that Plaintiff contracted with Defendants to perform office and warehouse improvement. Defendants allegedly breached the contract by overcharging for work performed, performing substandard and unauthorized work, among other things. Plaintiff alleges breach of contract, breach of implied warranty, negligence, and unfair business practices (Business and Professions Code, section 17200).

Plaintiff did not file an opposition by

July 8, 2026 (nine court days before the hearing.)

The

demurrer is procedurally defective. Defendants served the demurrer by email on Ryan DeRose. Proof of electronic service requires, among other things, a statement that the document was served electronically and the name and electronic service address of the person served both of which are absent from the proof of service filed with the demurrer. (Code Civ. Proc., § 1013b.)

Accordingly,

the demurrer is taken off calendar.
