19STCV23068 ZHOU V SIADATAN

Motion for reconsiderations or motion to strike void order: Denied. The motion for reconsideration is late and the court does not reconsider the order. The order itself is not void and will not be stricken. The court did not exceed its jurisdiction. The decision was not a discovery sanction. Instead, it was based on the inherent power of the court to control the proceedings to assure there is fairness in the process.

The previous order stands.

The court has already advised counsel for moving party that sending a letter direct to the court was improper.
