ANALYSIS:

Jack Maya
sued Renee McKeller for back rent owed on property that he had leased to her.
McKeller tried unsuccessfully to quash service of Maya's summons and complaint.
She then failed timely to answer the complaint, and Maya took her default.
McKeller subsequently moved unsuccessfully to have the default set aside. After that, she filed this motion to preclude the entry of judgment, arguing that Maya's causes of action are time-barred.

The Court entered default judgment against McKeller on July 27, 2026. McKeller's remedies at this point are from the judgment. The Court therefore DENIES
AS MOOT McKeller's motion.

Maya is to give notice.
