Case Number: 25SMCV04216 Hearing Date: August 18, 2026 Dept: I

This is a motion for a trial preference. Defendant does not oppose the motion, but asks that the court essentially enter a case management order so that the parties will be ready for trial. In light of that, the court will GRANT the motion and set the trial date. The court will discuss with the parties the specific trial date. The court agrees with the defense that a CMO is appropriate given the tight schedule. The court will therefore recess the matter at this time and order the parties to return at 9:00 am tomorrow. During the interim, the parties should meet and confer and try and agree on a schedule. Hopefully, with the trial date set, they will be able to work back from that date.

The court notes that its FSC and trial rules remain in effect even though the trial is being significantly advanced. The parties will also need to work together starting very soon to ensure that they are ready for trial. The court is also aware that plaintiff has various medical issues. Obviously, some of them might have to take priority over depositions and the like. But her deposition speedy responses to discovery will need to be a priority to the extent it reasonably can be.
