MOVING PARTY

Plaintiff

Mehrdad Dayani

OPPOSING PARTY

Defendant

Kia America, Inc.

BACKGROUND

This case arises from allegations that Defendant failed to repair or replace a vehicle it sold to Plaintiff in violation of the Song-Beverly Act.

On October 21, 2025, Plaintiff Mehrdad Dayani ("Plaintiff") filed suit against Defendant Kia America, Inc. ("Defendant") alleging three causes of action for violations of the Song-Beverly Act.

Plaintiff now moves for monetary sanctions in the amount of $2,500 against Defendant's counsel of record pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 871.26, subdivision (j)(2) for failure to produce a witness to testify to the categories as set forth in Section 871.26, subdivision (i), within 120 days of filing its Answer, in violation of Section 871.26, subdivision (c).

Defendant opposes the motion and Plaintiff replies.

REQUEST

FOR JUDICIAL NOTICE

Plaintiff requests judicial notice of the fact that Defendant elected to opt-in to the procedures for manufacturers pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure sections 871.20 through 871.30, as evidenced by the official list published online by the Department of Consumer Affairs.

Judicial notice may be taken of official acts of the legislative, executive, and judicial departments of the United States and of any state of the United States. (Evid. Code, § 452, subd. (c).

Thus, the Court may take judicial notice of the fact that Defendant appears on the Department of Consumer Affairs' official list of manufacturers who have opted in to the procedures outlined in Code of Civil Procedure sections 871.20 through 871.30 as an official act, but not the absolute truth of the contents of that list.

ANALYSIS

Code of Civil Procedure section 871.26, subdivision (c) provides: “Within 120 days after the filing of the answer or other responsive pleading, all parties have the right to conduct initial depositions, each not to exceed two hours, of [...] the person who is most qualified to testify on the defendant’s behalf. This deposition shall be limited to the topics listed in subdivision (i).”

Subdivision (j) provides, “Unless the party failing to comply with this section shows good cause, notwithstanding any other law and in addition to any other sanctions imposed pursuant to this chapter, a court shall impose [...] a one-thousand-five-hundred dollar ($1,500) sanction against the plaintiff’s attorney or two-thousand-five-hundred-dollar ($2,500) sanction against the defense attorney respectively, paid within 15 business days for failure to comply with the provisions relating to depositions as prescribed in subdivision (c).”

Here, Defendant’s Answer was filed on December 22, 2025. One hundred and twenty (120) days thereafter was April 21, 2026.

On December 23, 2025, Plaintiff noticed Defendant’s deposition for March 17, 2026. (Greco Decl. ¶¶ 2-3 and Ex. 1.) Additionally, Plaintiff attempted to meet and confer regarding the deposition date. (Greco Decl. ¶ 5 and Ex. 2.)

On March 12, 2026, Defendant electronically served objections to the deposition notice that included objections to the noticed date. (Greco Decl. ¶ 5 and Ex. 3.)

On April 24, 2026—three days after the statutory deadline—Defendant agreed to produce its witness for deposition on May 18, 2026. (Greco Decl. at ¶ 6 and Ex. 4.) Accordingly, Plaintiff served a new notice for that date. (Greco Decl. at ¶ 7 and Ex. 5.)

On May 18, 2026, Plaintiff’s counsel deposed the witness Defendant produced, David Sakadjian, who is not an employee of Defendant’s, but rather a contract employee through a company called Advantage Technical who merely reviewed a series of documents Defendant had provided him. (Greco Decl. ¶ 8.) As a result, according to Plaintiff, Sakadjian was unable to answer basic questions within the categories enumerated in Code of Civil Procedure section 871.26, subdivision (i), including:

whether any warranty claims had been submitted
and denied,

whether any repairs had been made during the
vehicle's prior ownership,

whether any repairs were conducted as part of the process to certify the pre-owned vehicle for re-sale,

the results of the certification inspection,

whether additional information regarding repairs
was communicated to Defendant after October 30, 2025,

how specific software applied to the vehicle
would address Plaintiff's concerns,

a description of the "open campaign" referenced in Defendant's document production,

whether that campaign was performed,

whether Defendant had access or information regarding diagnostic trouble codes for the vehicle from its proprietary tool.

(Greco Decl. ¶ 8.)

In opposition, Defendant argues that Plaintiff has failed to demonstrate that Defendant lacked good cause, and because Defendant produced a witness, Plaintiff's quarrel is with the sufficiency of the witness, not Defendant's outright failure to comply with the statute.

Defendant also argues that its witness did in fact testify as to the various categories above that Plaintiff said he was unable to testify about.

Specifically, Defendant points out Sakadjian testified about the warranty coverage and claims as follows:

Q: On this document here, is there any information related the CPO warranty?

A: Yes.

Q: All right.
Where do I find that?

A: I will see there is an area marked CPO, and there's a Y, then a contract number associated with it.

Q: [...] can you tell me what the document is we're looking at on page 1?

A: This document is a list of the warranty claims associated with the vehicle.

Q: Do you know if there have been any additional warranty claims since April 8, 2025? [...]

A: Based on the documentation I have reviewed, they speak for themselves. If I'm correct, it would be these only.

Q: I have two lines that say W and T.
Do you know what the W and the T stand for?

A: I know the W stands for warranty.

I'm not completely sure what the T stands for.

Q: Okay. Underneath that for the April 8, 2025 repair date, we have a W.

Does that indicate that the repair that follows after this was covered by Kia's warranty?

A: Yes.

Q: Does Kia distinguish in any way, you know, what warranty is covering it, whether it's the CPO warranty, basic warranty, power train warranty, anything like that?

A: Well, based off the vehicle's mileage and the vehicle's timeline, that would denote what warranty is covering it. They have specific coverage periods.

Q: Okay. Do you know what – Van Nuys in response to the customer's complaint on this occasion? [...]

A: They scanned the vehicle for DTC and found no historical faults or active faults, and they test drove the vehicle for 12 miles and monitored live engine data and found the engine to have rough idle – or did not have rough idle or heard revving at this time.

Unable to duplicate customer's concern.

Q: This was listed as internal.

I assume there was no warranty reimbursement made on this objection?

A: Correct. It's listed as internal.

Q: Sorry. It's a specific question. Did Kia provide any warranty reimbursement on this occasion?

A: Based on the documentation we reviewed earlier, this was not warranty – submitted for warranty claim.

(Ex.

6 to Greco Decl. at pp. 30:23-31:4; 32:8-18; 33:6-61:10-62:6.) Further, Sakadjian testified as follows about DTCs performed on the vehicle:

Q: What was this designed to address, Mr. Sakadjian? [...]

A: This document is provided to address and issue with the ITM module when a vehicle exhibits certain DTCs that are listed in this paragraph.

Q: Do you know if this bulletin was ever applied to the subject vehicle? [...]

A: It was not.

Q: Do you know if these DTCs have ever been present in the subject vehicle? [...]

A: Based on the documentation provided by the service centers, they were not listed in any of the documentation.

Q: Is the subject vehicle within the range of vehicles this TSB is designed to cover?

A: Yes, it is.

(Ex.

6 at pp. 58:3-59:2.)

However, Sakadjian was unable to testify about repairs during the car's prior ownership or during the certified pre-owned vehicle inspection process, although he testified about the certified pre-owned vehicle inspection process generally.

(See Ex. 6 at pp. 34:3-35:3.) Further, although Sakadjian was unable to testify from personal knowledge whether Plaintiff's vehicle received an over-the-air update, he indicated that there would be specific documentation in the vehicle's repair history about that. (Ex. 6 at pp. 26:25-27:5.)

Defendant also argues Sakadjian's inability to testify about events occurring after October 30, 2025 was a reflection of the scope of records he reviewed, not his incompetence as a witness.

Ultimately, the record does not demonstrate that Defendant failed to comply with the statutory requirements in bad faith. The evidence demonstrates Plaintiff's counsel did not follow up about re-scheduling the PMK deposition after it received Defendant's timely objections until the afternoon of April 23—two days after the statutory deadline—to which Defendant's counsel responded the very next morning, offering the May 18 deposition date.

(Ex. 4 to Greco Decl.) Thus, the initial failure to timely conduct a PMK deposition appears to be Plaintiff's fault, not Defendant's.

Further, as demonstrated above, Defendant's PMK did substantially testify at the May 18 deposition about the majority of the categories Plaintiff claims he did not. For those questions he was unable to definitively answer, he nonetheless pointed Plaintiff to where the answers to those questions would appear in the documents.

CONCLUSION AND ORDER

Therefore, finding the evidence does not demonstrate that Defendant failed to comply with the requirements of Code of Civil Procedure section 871.26, subdivision (c), the Court denies Plaintiff's motion for sanctions.

Plaintiff shall provide notice of the Court's ruling and file the notice with a proof of service forthwith.
