Villasana v. General Motors, LLC

Plaintiffs' Motion to Compel Further

Responses to Requests for Production of Documents from Defendant

BACKGROUND

This is a lemon law action arising out of Plaintiffs' purchase of a 2017 Chevrolet Malibu, manufactured and distributed by Defendant General Motors, LLC.

DISCUSSION

Plaintiffs move to compel further responses to RPDs, set one, nos. 1, 2, 3, 7, 8, 15, 16, 23, 24, 29, 30, 39, 40, 51, 52, 61, 62, 67, 68, 71, 72, 73, 74, 83, 84, 89, 91, 93, 100, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 131, 132, 135, and 136 from Defendant. Plaintiffs served the subject discovery on March 20, 2025. Plaintiffs assert Defendant served unverified responses on April 24, 2025 and verifications on June 11, 2025. The requests seek documents relating to Defendant's internal investigation and analysis of the Engine Defects and Transmission Defects plaguing Plaintiffs' vehicle and establishing that Defendant previously knew of such Defects but nevertheless refused to repurchase the vehicle.

Plaintiffs assert that further responses are necessary because Defendant has refused to produce any responsive documents and because Defendant's objections lack merit. In opposition, Defendant represents that it produced over 13,000 documents on April 16, 2025.

The Court previously continued the hearing on this motion to allow the parties to further meet and confer over the sufficiency of Defendant's supplemental responses. The Court ordered Plaintiffs to file a declaration no later than July 2, 2026, stating which requests remain at issue for Court determination following meet and confer. The Courts record reflects no such declaration has been filed. Accordingly, the Court assumes that the parties have resolved all disputes relating to this motion and takes the motion off calendar.

CONCLUSION

Plaintiffs' motion to compel further responses to discovery is off calendar.

Plaintiffs to give notice.
