Tentative Ruling

Judge Kevin C. Brazile

Department 310

Hearing Date: June 29, 2026

Case Name: Law v. Activision Blizzard, Inc., et al.

Case No.: 25STCV25814

Matter: Motion to Quash Subpoena

Moving Party: Plaintiff Linda Law

Responding Party: Defendants Activision, et al.

Notice: OK

Ruling: The Motion is granted in part.

Moving party to give notice.

The Court encourages all parties to appear remotely via LA CourtConnect. If submitting on the Court's tentative ruling, please follow the instructions provided above.

This is an employment action.

Plaintiff Linda Law moves to quash a business records subpoena issued to her prior employers.

Code of Civil Procedure § 1987.1 authorizes courts to quash a subpoena entirely, modify it, or direct compliance with it upon the court's own terms and conditions, including protective orders. In addition, the court may take other appropriate means to protect parties or nonparties "from unreasonable or oppressive demands, including unreasonable violations of the right of privacy." (Code Civ. Proc. § 1987.1(a).) Discovery devices are meant to facilitate litigation, not wage it. (Calcor Space Facility, Inc. v. Superior Court (1997) 53 Cal.App.4th 216, 221.)

The requested documents pertaining to Plaintiff's performance and job description are directly relevant to the issues of whether Plaintiff was rightfully placed on a performance improvement plan and thereafter terminated for subpar performance. The Court, however, will narrow the temporal scope of the documents to June 1, 2018, through June 2021. The subpoena is otherwise valid.

The Motion is granted in part as set forth herein. No sanctions.

Moving party to give notice.
