

TENTATIVE RULINGS

DEPT CX102

Judge Layne H. Melzer

Court Reporters: Official court reporters (i.e., court reporters employed by the Court) are NOT typically provided for law and motion matters in this department. If a party desires a record of a law and motion proceeding, it will be the party's responsibility to provide a court reporter. Parties must comply with the court's policy on the use of privately retained court reporters which can be found on the court's website at Court Reporter Services | Superior Court of California | County of Orange.

Tentative rulings: The court endeavors to post tentative rulings on the court's website in the morning, prior to the afternoon hearing. However, ongoing proceedings such as jury trials may prevent posting by that time. Tentative rulings may not be posted in every case. Please do not call the department for tentative rulings if tentative rulings have not been posted. The court will not entertain a request to continue a hearing or the filing of further documents once a tentative ruling has been posted.

Submitting on tentative rulings: If all counsel intend to submit on the tentative ruling and do not desire oral argument, please advise the Courtroom Clerk or Courtroom Attendant by calling (657) 622-5302. Please do not call the department unless all parties submit on the tentative ruling. If all sides submit on the tentative ruling and so advise the court, the tentative ruling shall become the court's final ruling and the prevailing party shall give notice of the ruling and prepare an order for the court's signature if appropriate under Cal. R. Ct. 3.1312.

Non-appearances: If nobody appears for the hearing and the court has not been notified that all parties submit on the tentative ruling, the court shall determine whether the matter is taken off calendar or the tentative ruling becomes the final ruling. The Court also might make a different order at the hearing. (Lewis v. Fletcher Jones Motor Cars, Inc. (2012) 205 Cal.App.4th 436, 442, fn. 1.)

APPEARANCES: Department CX102 conducts non-evidentiary proceedings, such as law and motion, remotely, by Zoom videoconference pursuant to CCP §367.75, California Rule of Court (CRC) 3.672 and Orange County Local Rule (OCLR) 375. All counsel and self-represented parties appearing for such hearings must check-in online through the Court's civil video appearance website at Civil Remote Hearings | Superior Court of California | County of Orange prior to the commencement of their hearing. Once the online check-in is completed, participants will be prompted to join the courtroom's Zoom hearing session. Participants will initially be directed to a virtual waiting room pending the start of their specific video hearing. Check-in instructions and instructional video are available on the website. The Court's "Appearance Procedures and Information--Civil Unlimited and Complex" ("Appearance Procedures") and "Guidelines for Remote Appearances" ("Guidelines") contained on the Court's website will be strictly enforced. Parties preferring to appear in-person for law and motion hearings may do so pursuant to CCP §367.75 and OCLR 375.

PUBLIC ACCESS: The courtroom remains open for all evidentiary and non-evidentiary proceedings.

No filming, broadcasting, photography, or electronic recording is permitted of the video session pursuant to California Rules of Court, rule 1.150 and Orange County Superior Court rule 180.

TENTATIVE RULINGS6/25/2026*02:00 PM

100	BOLANOS vs. NEWPORT FAB, LLC, a Delaware Limited Liability Company 2022-01280696	Final Accounting The settlement administrator, Phoenix Settlement Administrators, has confirmed that the distribution of the settlement funds has been completed and made in accordance with the terms of the settlement that were approved by the Court. As Plaintiffs have shown that the administrator's work is complete, the Court's file may now be closed. Plaintiffs are ordered to give notice of this ruling to Defendants.
101	Pham vs. Nguoi Viet News, Inc. 2020-01157868	Final Accounting The settlement administrator, CPT Group, Inc., has confirmed that the distribution of the settlement funds has been completed and made in accordance with the terms of the settlement that were approved by the Court. As Plaintiffs have shown that the administrator's work is complete, the Court's file may now be closed. Plaintiffs are ordered to give notice of this ruling to Defendant.
102	Southern California Edison Company vs. California State Board of Equalization 2025-01534286	Demurrer to Answer Plaintiff Southern California Edison Company's demurrer to Defendant California State Board of Equalization's ("Board") answer is SUSTAINED in part and OVERRULED in part. (Code Civ. Proc. [CCP], § 430.20, subd. (a).) Defendant shall have leave to file and serve a first amended answer within 14 days of notice of this ruling. As a threshold matter, the Court finds that Defendant's demurrer was not timely filed per Code. As Defendant points out (ROA #61 [Opp.], p. 7), CCP section 430.40(b) requires demurrers to answers to be filed and served within 10 days after service of the answer. Here, the answer was served electronically on 2/19/2026, so 10 days + 2 court days for electronic service thereafter is 3/3/2026. Plaintiff counters that CCP section 430.41(a)(2) granted Plaintiff "an automatic 30-day extension" to file the demurrer because "the parties were unable to meet and confer at least 5 days before the date the responsive pleading is due." (ROA #65 [Reply], pp. 3-4.) However, Plaintiff also acknowledges that the statute requires Plaintiff to "fil[e] and serv[e], on or before the date on which a demurrer would be due , a declaration stating under penalty of perjury that a good faith attempt to meet and confer was made and explaining the reasons why the parties could not meet and confer.” (Id., citing CCP, § 430.41(a)(2).) Yet Plaintiff did not file or serve such a declaration before 3/3/2026. (Id.)

However, the Court exercises its discretion under CCP section 473(a)(1) to consider Plaintiff’s late-filed demurrer. (CCP, § 473(a)(1) [“the court may, in furtherance of justice, and on any terms as may be proper, . . . enlarge the time for . . . demurrer”]; McAllister v. County of Monterey (2007) 147 Cal.App.4th 253, 282, internal quotes omitted [“The trial court may exercise this discretion so long as its action does not affect the substantial rights of the parties”].) As Plaintiff contends (Reply at p. 5), Plaintiff’s brief 7-day delay in filing the demurrer has not affected Defendant’s substantial rights, and Defendant has not been prejudiced or alleged any prejudice from the delay, especially given that Defendant agreed to meet and confer with Plaintiff over the demurrer on 3/4/2026, which was after the deadline for filing, and Defendant had over 90 days to prepare its opposition to the demurrer in light of the hearing date.

1st (failure to state facts) and 7th (lack of jurisdiction) affirmative defenses – OVERRULED. Neither “an objection that the pleading does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action” nor “the objection that the court has no jurisdiction of the subject of the cause of action alleged in the pleading” must be pleaded in the answer, as these objections are not waived if not pleaded in the answer. (CCP, § 430.80, subd. (a).) Accordingly, these objections are not “true” affirmative defense that raises new matter as to which facts must be alleged in support. In context, these “defenses” are better interpreted as Defendant merely reserving the right to file a statutory motion for judgment on the pleadings. (See CCP, § 438, subds. (c)(1)(B)(i)-(ii); see also Rancho Santa Margarita v. Vail (1938) 11 Cal.2d 501, 543 [defendant’s characterization of a matter as an “affirmative defense” in its answer is not controlling].)

3rd through 6th affirmative defenses (laches, waiver, estoppel, res judicata, collateral estoppel, judicial estoppel, and law of the case) – SUSTAINED. Defendant bears the burden of proving laches, waiver, estoppel, and res judicata/collateral estoppel. (Green v. Bd. of Dental Examiners (1996) 47 Cal.App.4th 786, 793, internal quotes omitted [“the party asserting and seeking to benefit from the laches bar bears the burden of proof” on delay and prejudice resulting from delay]; Eisen v. Tavangarian (2019) 36 Cal.App.5th 626, 647 [“The party seeking to establish an affirmative defense of waiver or estoppel bears the burden of proof”]; Casad v. Qualls (1977) 70 Cal.App.3d 921, 927 [“The burden of proof is on the party asserting the defense of res judicata”]; Chacon v. Litke (2010) 181 Cal.App.4th 1234, 1251 [“The party asserting collateral estoppel bears the burden of establishing the[] requirements”]; Kelsey v. Waste Management of Alameda County (1999) 76 Cal.App.4th 590, 597-598 [defendant asserting application of judicial estoppel bears burden of proof]; see also generally Evid. Code, § 500 [“Except as otherwise provided by law, a party has the burden of proof as to each fact the existence or nonexistence of which is essential to the claim for relief or defense that he is asserting”].) Here, the answer alleges zero facts in support of these affirmative defenses.

		8th affirmative defense (statute of limitations) – SUSTAINED. “There are two ways to properly plead a statute of limitations: (1) allege facts showing that the action is barred, and indicating that the lateness of the action is being urged as a defense and (2) plead the specific section and subdivision.” (Martin v. Van Bergen (2012) 209 Cal.App.4th 84, 91; see also CCP, § 458 [“In pleading the Statute of Limitations it is not necessary to state the facts showing the defense, but it may be stated generally that the cause of action is barred by the provisions of Section ____ (giving the number of the section and subdivision thereof, if it is so divided, relied upon) of the Code of Civil Procedure. . . .”].) Here, Defendant’s answer did neither: It asserts no facts whatsoever as to this defense and also fails to identify a specific statute of limitations at issue. Plaintiff shall give notice.
103	Interface Rehab, Inc. vs. 4545 Shelley Court Opco, LLC 2025-01501797	1. Demurrer to Complaint 2. Motion to Strike Portions of Complaint 3. Case Management Conference 1. Demurrer Defendants’ demurrer to Plaintiff’s complaint is OVERRULED. (Code Civ. Proc. [CCP], § 430.10, subds. (e), (f).) Defendants shall file and serve an answer, if any, within 14 days. On a demurrer, a complaint “must be liberally construed, with a view to substantial justice between the parties.” (CCP § 452; see also Redfearn v. Trader Joe’s Co. (2018) 20 Cal.App.5th 989, 996.) “A demurrer tests the legal sufficiency of the factual allegations in a complaint.” (Redfearn v. Trader Joe’s Co. (2018) 20 Cal.App.5th 989, 996.) The court must determine “whether the complaint alleges facts sufficient to state a cause of action or discloses a complete defense.” (Ibid.) The court assumes “the truth of the properly pleaded factual allegations, facts that reasonably can be inferred from those expressly pleaded[,] and matters of which judicial notice has been taken.” (Ibid.) “ “[I]f upon a consideration of all the facts stated it appears that the plaintiff is entitled to any relief . . . , the complaint will be held good, although the facts may not be clearly stated, or may be intermingled with a statement of other facts irrelevant to the cause of action shown, or although the plaintiff may demand relief to which he is not entitled under the facts alleged.” (Chase Chemical Co. v. Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co. (1984) 159 Cal.App.3d 229, 242, quoting Matteson v. Wagoner (1905) 147 Cal.739, 742.) “Erroneous or confusing labels attached by the inept pleader are to be ignored if the complaint pleads facts which would entitle the plaintiff to relief.” (Saunders v. Cariss (1990) 224 Cal.App.3d 905, 908; see also Martinez v. City of Clovis (2023) 90 Cal.App.5th 193, 262 [considering claim under different label because “courts examine the entire complaint and are not limited by the labels and structure used in the pleading”].)

A complaint “ordinarily is sufficient if it alleges ultimate rather than evidentiary facts,” as “a plaintiff is required only to set forth the essential facts with particularity sufficient to acquaint a defendant with the nature, source, and extent of the plaintiff’s cause of action.” (Thomas v. Regents of University of Cal. (2023) 97 Cal.App.5th 587, 610-611, internal quotes & citations omitted.) “A complaint will be upheld ‘so long as the pleading gives notice of the issues sufficient to enable preparation of a defense.’” (Id. at p. 611.)

Moreover, “[t]he particularity required in pleading facts depends on the extent to which the defendant in fairness needs detailed information that can be conveniently provided by the plaintiff; less particularity is required where the defendant may be assumed to have knowledge of the facts equal to that possessed by the plaintiff.” (Doheny Park Terrace Homeowners Assn., Inc. v. Truck Ins. Exchange (2005) 132 Cal.App.4th 1076, 1099.) “There is no need to require specificity in the pleadings because ‘modern discovery procedures necessarily affect the amount of detail that should be required in a pleading.’” (Ibid.)

1st cause of action for breach of contract - OVERRULED. Defendants first demur to this cause of action on the ground that “[a]s established in Otworth v. Southern Pac. Transportation Co. (1985) 166 Cal.App.3d 452, a written contract must either be set forth verbatim in the complaint or attached and incorporated by reference,” and here, “Plaintiff simply failed to set forth verbatim the terms of the contract or attach the written contracts at issue to the complaint.” (Dem. P&A, p. 5.) Therefore, Defendants contend Plaintiff has failed to state facts to constitute a cause of action under CCP section 430.10(e). (Id.)

In its opposition, Plaintiff correctly points out that Otworth has been implicitly overruled by the California Supreme Court in Construction Protective Services, Inc. v. TIG Specialty Insurance Co. (2002) 29 Cal.4th 189, 198-199, which held that a written contract’s terms need not be pleaded precisely in haec verba; instead, “[i]n an action based on a written contract, a plaintiff may plead the legal effect of the contract rather than its precise language.” (See Miles v. Deutsche Bank National Trust Co. (2015) 236 Cal.App.4th 394, 402 [recognizing that Construction Protective Services implicitly overruled Otworth v. Southern Pacific Transportation Co. (1985) 166 Cal.App.3d 452, 459 and Wise v. Southern Pacific Co. (1963) 223 Cal.App.2d 50, 59 to the extent they require verbatim pleading or attaching copy of contract].)

Here, as Defendants acknowledge, the complaint alleges:

34. By and through their common ownership, in 2024 and 2025 the Facility Defendants each entered written contracts with Interface, whereby Interface would provide rehabilitation services at their facilities, for which the Facility Defendants would pay. These written contracts call for attorneys’ fees to be awarded to the prevailing party in any litigation over the contracts.

(Dem. P&A, p. 5, citing Compl., ¶ 34.) These allegations sufficiently plead the legal effect of the contract to put Defendants on notice of the issues and to enable Defendants' preparation of a defense.

In reply, Defendants concede Plaintiff may plead the legal effect of the agreement in lieu of quoting it verbatim or attaching it to the complaint, but Defendants contend that Plaintiff has failed to "allege which specific entity entered into which agreement, for what services, and for what amounts." (ROA #379 [Reply], pp. 2-3.) However, as Defendants also acknowledge, ¶ 34 of the complaint adequately alleges that "the Facility Defendants each entered [into] written contracts with Interface" (emphasis added). This is sufficient to put Defendants on notice that Plaintiff alleges each Defendant entered into a contract with Interface for Interface to provide rehabilitation services at each Defendant's facility. No further specificity is required at this stage, and discovery is available to determine additional details.

Defendants also demurs to this cause of action as "uncertain" under CCP section 430.10(f). Defendants contend that it is unclear from the complaint how many contracts were entered into between the parties, and "[t]he naming of all the defendant(s) under this cause of action also renders the complaint 'uncertain', which includes ambiguous and unintelligible" (Dem. P&A at p. 5.)

Uncertainty is a disfavored ground for demurrers because "ambiguities can be clarified under modern discovery procedures." (Khoury v. Maly's of Cal., Inc. (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 612, 616.) Demurrers for uncertainty should be "granted only if the pleading is so incomprehensible that a defendant cannot reasonably respond." (A.J. Fistes Corp. v. GDL Best Contractors, Inc. (2019) 38 Cal.App.5th 677, 695, internal quotes omitted.) Also, a "demurrer for uncertainty will not lie where the ambiguous facts alleged are presumptively within the knowledge of the demurring party." (Bacon v. Wahrhaftig (1950) 97 Cal.App.2d 599, 605, quoting Merlino v. West Coast Macaroni Mfg. Co. (1949) 90 Cal.App.2d 106, 108.)

Here, the complaint is not so incomprehensible that Defendants cannot reasonably respond.

2nd cause of action for account stated - OVERRULED. Defendants demur to this cause of action for failure to state facts to constitute a cause of action because:

[i]t is well-established in California that a debt which is predicated upon the breach of the terms of an express contract cannot be the basis of an account stated. Moore v. Bartholomae Corp. (1945) 69 Cal.App.2d 477-478. Nonetheless, Plaintiff, in its second cause of action, incorporates all prior allegations contained within the Complaint, including its count for breach of, among other things, the written agreements. Accordingly, Plaintiff cannot both allege its first cause of action for breach of contract and its equally deficient second cause of action for account stated.

(Dem. P&A, pp. 5-6.)

The court in Moore cited Rio Linda Poultry Farms v. Fredericksen (1932) 121 Cal.App. 433, 435 to hold that “a debt which is predicated upon the breach of the terms of an express contract cannot be the basis of an account stated.” (Moore, supra, at p. 477.) In Rio Linda, the court explained the rationale behind this rule:

An account stated has been defined as an agreed balance of accounts; an account which has been examined and accepted by both parties.

It is not every debt which can form the basis of an account stated or an action thereon. It cannot become a substitute for an action of debt upon a specialty, such as a promissory note. In such a case no subsequent statement of the amount due thereon, although agreed to by the payer, can supersede the special promise so as to form the basis of an action as upon an account stated to recover the original debt. The written promise being higher evidence of the debt and the debtor being already bound thereby, there could be no necessity for a resort to a subsequent statement and promise to pay. Moreover, the debtor being already completely bound for a specified sum, there is no element of uncertainty to be settled, and no difficulty in ascertaining the balance upon conflicting claims, which could constitute a consideration for a new promise to pay, and therefore such promise would be a nudum pactum.

(Rio Linda, supra, 121 Cal.App. at pp. 435-436, internal citations omitted, emphasis added.)

Here, according to the complaint, the parties entered into written contracts whereby Plaintiff would provide services for which Defendants would pay. (Compl., ¶ 34.) No specified sum is alleged to be stated in the applicable contracts. Instead, Plaintiff alleges it sent invoices to Defendants for the amounts due each month based upon the services provided by Plaintiff. (See id. at ¶¶ 36-38.) Plaintiff also alleges that “[w]ithin the last four years, Defendants became indebted to Interface because accounts were stated in writing between Interface and Defendants in which it was agreed that Defendants were indebted to Interface.” (Id. at ¶ 48, emphasis added].)

The Court must accept these allegations as true for purposes of the demurrer. Moreover, these allegations are sufficient to support an account stated cause of action. (Farmers Insurance Exchange v. Zerlin (1997) 53 Cal.App.4th 445, 459-460, citing Pike v. Zadig (1915) 171 Cal. 273, 276-277 [“In California, it has long been settled the allegation of claims using common counts is good against special or general demurrers” and “may be stated in conclusional fashion”]; Western Title Insurance & Guaranty Co. v. Bartolacelli (1954) 124 Cal.App.2d 690, 694 [common counts can “state[] simply a conclusion of law and disclose none of the facts upon which it is predicated”].)

3rd cause of action for open book account - OVERRULED. In their opening brief, Defendants contend that this is because “the breach of contract clause is defective and subject to demurrer, making the common counts also subject to demurrer” because “[t]he common counts cause of action . . . is simply derivative and duplicative of the breach of contract cause of action.” (Dem. P&A, pp. 3, 6.) However, since the recommendation is to overrule the demurrer as to the 1st cause of action of action for breach of contract, it does not follow that the open book account cause of action must also fail as a merely “derivative” claim.

In Defendants’ reply, Defendants raise a different argument:

“An express contract, which defines the duties and liabilities of the parties, whether it be oral or written, is not, as a rule, an open account.” Eloquence Corp. v. Home Consignment Ctr., 49 Cal.App.5th 655, 665 (2020). “This general rule has been applied in cases where money is owed pursuant to the terms of an express contract.” Id.

Here, the Agreements are written contracts regarding Defendants’ obligation to pay. Therefore, where Plaintiff alleges an express contract governing the same subject matter and does not plead in the alternative, the open book account cause of action is improperly duplicative and subject to demurrer.

(Reply at p. 5.)

“An open book account for money due” is also a type of “common count.” (CCP, § 425.30, subd. (a)(2).) “A book account is a detailed statement which constitutes the principal record of one or more transactions between a debtor and a creditor arising out of a contract or some fiduciary relation, and shows the debits and credits in connection therewith. The creditor must keep these records in the regular course of its business and in a reasonably permanent form, such as a book or card file. A book account is open where a balance remains due on the account.” (Professional Collection Consultants v. Lujan (2018) 23 Cal.App.5th 685, 690-691, internal quotes & citations omitted.)

Again, it is well-established that common counts are excepted from fact pleading requirements. (Farmers, supra, 53 Cal.App.4th at pp. 459-460; Western Title Insurance, supra, 124 Cal.App.2d at p. 694.) The only essential allegations of a common count, which may be stated “in conclusional fashion” are “(1) the statement of indebtedness in a certain sum, (2) the consideration, i.e., goods sold, work done, etc., and (3) nonpayment.” (Farmers, supra, 53 Cal.App.4th at p. 460.) Thus, common counts are generally not subject to general demurrers for failure to state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action or special demurrers for uncertainty. (Id., citing Pike, supra, 171 Cal. at pp. 276-277; Smith v. Randall (1942) 51 Cal.App.2d 195, 197.)

The only exception is when a common count is either (1) contradicted by other facts alleged in the same cause of action or (2) based on the same facts as a specific cause of action and pleaded as an alternative way of seeking the same relief demanded in that specific cause of action, and that cause of action is demurrable. (Farmers, supra, at 53 Cal.App.4th p. 460; McBride v. Boughton (2004) 123 Cal.App.4th 379, 394.)

Here, Plaintiff's open book account claim is not necessarily contradicted by Plaintiff's allegations of an express contract, particularly since Plaintiff also alleges in ¶ 52 of the complaint that "[w]ithin the last four years, Defendants became indebted to Interface on an open book account for money due." Moreover, the court, "based on the principle that a party may plead alternative theories that are inconsistent with one another, cannot conclude that the complaint stated one theory to the exclusion of the other"; rather, the court may conclude that the allegations of the complaint "are sufficient to present both . . . theor[ies]." (Mendoza v. Continental Sales Co. (2006) 140 Cal.App.4th 1395, 1403.)

Further, as discussed above, Plaintiff has properly alleged a breach of contract cause of action. Therefore, Plaintiff also has not based its open book account cause of action on the same facts of a specific cause of action (breach of contract) that is demurrable.

4th and 5th causes of action for quantum meruit and unjust enrichment - OVERRULED. Plaintiff's complaint pleads both a 4th cause of action for "quantum meruit" and a separate 5th cause of action for "unjust enrichment." (Compl., p. 10.)

Defendants demur to these cause of action on the grounds that unjust enrichment is not a proper standalone cause of action but is instead a basis for restitution. (Dem. P&A at pp. 7-8.)

Technically, "[t]here is no cause of action in California labeled 'unjust enrichment.'" (City of Oakland v. Oakland Raiders (2022) 83 Cal.App.5th 458, 477; see also McBride v. Boughton (2004) 123 Cal.App.4th 379, 387, internal quotes, ellipses, & citations omitted ["Unjust enrichment is not a cause of action, however, or even a remedy, but rather a general principle, underlying various legal doctrines and remedies."].)

However, "[u]njust enrichment is synonymous with restitution. There are several potential bases for a cause of action seeking restitution. For example, restitution may be awarded in lieu of breach of contract damages when the parties had an express contract, but it was procured by fraud or is unenforceable or ineffective for some reason. Alternatively, restitution may be awarded where the defendant obtained a benefit from the plaintiff by fraud, duress, conversion, or similar conduct. In such cases, the plaintiff may choose not to sue in tort, but instead to seek restitution on a quasi-contract theory." (Id., internal quotes and citations omitted.)

Moreover, on a demurrer, courts also "ignore erroneous or confusing labels if the complaint pleads facts which would entitle the plaintiff to relief." (McBride, supra, 123 Cal.App.4th at p. 387.)

"The elements for a claim of unjust enrichment are receipt of a benefit and unjust retention of the benefit at the expense of another. The theory of unjust enrichment requires one who acquires a benefit which may not justly be retained, to return either the thing or its equivalent to the aggrieved party so as not to be unjustly enriched.” (Lyles v. Sangadeo-Patel (2014) 225 Cal.App.4th 759, 769, internal quotes & citations omitted.)

Here, Plaintiff has sufficiently alleged that Plaintiff performed services for Defendants at their request, yet Defendants have failed to pay Plaintiff for those services, thereby unjustly enriching Defendants. Although the complaint does not specify that the 4th and 5th causes of action are pleaded as an alternative to Plaintiff’s other theories, the complaint can nevertheless be fairly interpreted as doing so. (See Mendoza, supra, 140 Cal.App.4th at p. 1403; see also id. at p. 1402 [“When a pleader is in doubt about what actually occurred or what can be established by the evidence, the modern practice allows that party to plead in the alternative and make inconsistent allegations”].)

Additionally, although Defendants’ notice of demurrer and demurrer state that Defendants also demur to these two causes of action on the ground of uncertainty, Defendants’ memorandum of points and authorities fails to address how this cause of action is uncertain. A demurrer for uncertainty must “specify in what particulars the complaint was uncertain.” (Fenton v. Groveland Community Services Dist. (1982) 135 Cal.App.3d 797, 809; see also Niko v. Foreman (2006) 144 Cal.App.4th 344, 368 [rejecting party’s arguments made “without supporting legal or factual analysis”]; Badie v. Bank of America (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 779, 784-785 [when a party “fails to raise a point, or asserts it but fails to support it with reasoned argument and citations to authority,” the point is “waived”]; City of Monterey v. Carrnshimba (2013) 215 Cal.App.4th 1068, 1099 [the court “therefore need not consider undeveloped challenges”]; Cal. Rules of Court (CRC), rules 3.1113(a) [“court may construe absence of memorandum as an admission that the motion . . . is not meritorious and cause for its denial”], 3.1113(b) [a memorandum of points and authorities “must contain . . . a concise statement of the law . . . and a discussion of the statutes, cases and textbooks cited in support of the position advanced”].)

2. Motion to Strike

Defendants’ motion to strike portions of Plaintiff’s complaint is DENIED. (Code Civ. Proc. [CCP], § 436, subd. (a).)

Upon a motion made pursuant to CCP section 435, the court may strike “any irrelevant . . . matter inserted in any pleading.” (CCP, § 436, subd. (a).)

A motion to strike is the proper vehicle for attacking a claim for damages where the claim sued upon does not support such an award. (See Commodore Home Systems, Inc. v. Super. Ct. (1982) 32 Cal.3d 211, 214-215.)

Defendants move to strike the following 5 items from the complaint because they are irrelevant:

1. “Attorneys’ fees”, (Compliant at ¶ 46).

2. “Interface in entitled to attorneys’ fees under the contracts according to proof.” (Complaint at ¶ 50).
3. “Interface in entitled to attorneys’ fees under the contracts according to proof.” (Complaint at ¶ 60).
4. “Interface in entitled to attorneys’ fees under the contracts according to proof.” (Complaint at ¶ 65).
5. “For reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs according to proof pursuant to the terms of the respective agreements and Civil Code section 1717.5.” Page [11], “Relief Requested,” Section C.

Defendants contend that these 5 items constitute “immaterial allegations[s]” under CCP section 431.10(b)(3) because they are “[a] demand for judgment requesting relief not supported by the allegations of the complaint,” and CCP section 431.10(c) provides that “[a]n ‘immaterial allegation’ means ‘irrelevant matter’ as that term is used in Section 436.”

Defendants’ primary argument is the same as Defendants’ argument in support of their demurrer as to the complaint’s 1st cause of action for breach of contract—namely, that “Plaintiff generally pleads that somewhere in the contracts (unclear which ones) there is an attorney’s fees provision. However, the paragraph this language exists is unclear. As stated above, and in Defendant’s Demurrer, the Complaint has failed to properly identify attorneys’ fees provision in the contract and thus this motion must be granted.” (Mot. P&A at p. 2.)

However, as discussed above, Plaintiff has adequately pleaded that the relevant contracts contain attorneys’ fees provisions. (Compl., ¶ 34 [“These written contracts call for attorneys’ fees to be awarded to the prevailing party in any litigation over the contracts.”].) Again, “[i]n an action based on a written contract, a plaintiff may plead the legal effect of the contract rather than its precise language.” (Construction Protective Services, Inc. v. TIG Specialty Insurance Co. (2002) 29 Cal.4th 189, 198-199; see also Miles v. Deutsche Bank National Trust Co. (2015) 236 Cal.App.4th 394, 402 [recognizing that Construction Protective Services implicitly overruled Otworth v. Southern Pacific Transportation Co. (1985) 166 Cal.App.3d 452, 459 and Wise v. Southern Pacific Co. (1963) 223 Cal.App.2d 50, 59 to the extent they require verbatim pleading or attaching copy of contract].)

Also, as Plaintiff points out in opposition, “Plaintiff has also alleged the recovery of attorney’s fees pursuant to statute and specifically cited to Civil Code section 1717.5 which allows for the recovery of attorneys fees on certain common count allegations. Defendants’ Motion to Strike does not address that request in any fashion.” (Opp. at p. 4.)

Defendants’ reply then belatedly seeks to argue that Plaintiff’s complaint fails to adequately allege attorneys’ fees under CCP section 1717.5 because that section “precludes an award of attorneys’ fees if there is a written agreement between the parties.” (Reply at p. 3, citing CCP, § 1717.5, subd. (a)(4).) Defendants contend that “there is no allegation that the agreements between the parties invoke Section 1717.5.” (Id.)

		At bottom, there are cases holding that since there is no need to plead attorney's fees, there is even less need to strike them. (See Snatchko v. Westfield LLC (2010) 187 Cal.App.4th 469, 497 ["As there was no requirement they be pled at all, the trial court erred in striking [plaintiff's] prayer for attorney fees based on a failure to adequately plead their basis"]; Chinn v. KMR Property Management (2008) 166 Cal.App.4th 175, 194] "Attorney fees based on a contract provision do not need to be demanded in the complaint" because they are recoverable under section 1033.5, subdivision (a)(10) as an element of costs]; Faton v. Ahmedo (2015) 236 Cal.App.4th 1160, 1169 ["statutory attorney fees need not be pleaded and proved at trial and may properly be awarded after entry of judgment"]; see also Civ. Code, § 3532 ["The law neither does nor requires idle acts."]; Camenisch v. Superior Court (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 1689, 1699 [trial court did not err in refusing to strike prayer for attorney's fees because court is "not required to strike the prayer before [the plaintiff] has had a full opportunity to determine, through discovery, whether a basis for recovery exist"].) Plaintiff shall give notice of all of the above.
106	Ramirez De Santos vs. S.K.B. Corporation 2024-01386790	Motion for Final Approval The court has reviewed and considered the papers filed in support of plaintiff's motion for final approval of a $2,250,000 class action and PAGA settlement. Upon submission of a revised proposed order, as explained below, the court will grant the motion as follows: $6,000.00 for enhancement award to plaintiff; $675,000.00 for attorneys' fees; $ 18,210.20 for litigation costs; $11,500.00 for settlement administration costs; and $60,000.00 total PAGA penalties ($39,000.00 to the LWDA). Plaintiff to submit a revised proposed order reflecting the above disbursements and all revisions identified below. Plaintiff must also submit a redline version showing all changes. 1. The left margin is missing a vertical line to the right of the line numbers on pages 2-6. ROA 125. 2. Add the ROA number for the settlement amendment. ROA 125 at 1. 3. Paragraph 20 should include the "Aggrieved Employees," and also state that any unclaimed funds will be sent in the name of the Class Member and/or Aggrieved Employee. The final accounting hearing is scheduled for June 24, 2027 at 2:00 p.m. in Department CX102. Plaintiff shall submit a final accounting report at least 16 court days before the final accounting hearing regarding the status of the settlement administration. The final report must include all information necessary for the court to determine the total amount actually paid to class members and aggrieved employees and any amounts tendered to the State Controller's Office under the unclaimed property law. If all funds are not fully and finally disbursed prior to the filing deadline, including to the State Controller, plaintiff must request a continuance. Plaintiff is ordered to give notice, including to the LWDA, and to file a proof of service.

107	Renteria vs. TTS Engineering Inc, 2024-01442426	Motion for an Order Approving PAGA Settlement The Court has reviewed the supplemental materials provided by Plaintiff's Counsel and finds that they fail to adequately address the previously identified issues. Accordingly, Plaintiff Edgardo Campos's Motion for Approval PAGA Settlement is CONTINUED to September 3, 2026 at 2:00 p.m. in Department CX102 in order to give Plaintiff's counsel an opportunity to address the issues identified below: 1. The Court's previous 4/9/2026 minute order issued at the 1st hearing on this motion stated: "According to counsel's declaration submitted in support of the instant motion, on 10/1/2025, Plaintiff Renteria settled his individual claims as part of a separate settlement agreement and dismissed his claims against Defendant. (ROA #34 [Counsel Decl.] at ¶ 7.) However, it appears from the Court's records that Plaintiff Renteria has not filed any request for dismissal. Plaintiff's counsel is ORDERED to file such request on behalf of Plaintiff Renteria forthwith." (ROA #44, emphasis original.) However, counsel still has not filed Plaintiff Renteria's request for dismissal. 2. Plaintiff's counsel did not provide proof of service of the Plaintiff's supplemental filings to the LWDA, including the Addendum to the Settlement Agreement. 3. Although counsel submitted an Addendum to the Settlement Agreement for the Court's review, the Addendum was executed only by the parties' counsel, not the parties themselves. A fully executed copy of the Addendum must be submitted. Plaintiff's counsel must also provide a revised notice/cover letter to aggrieved employees that will accompany the payment to them, with the following revisions: 1. The end date of the PAGA period, i.e., 9/14/2025 per counsel's supplemental declaration, should be set forth in the notice/cover letter.

| | 2. In accordance with ¶ III.10 of the Court’s Guidelines for Approval of Class Action Settlements & PAGA Settlements, the notice/cover letter should provide (i) a brief explanation of PAGA; (ii) describe the factual allegations of the operative complaint; (iii) state the gross settlement, the awards and disbursements ordered by the court, the net settlement amount, and the portions allocated to the LWDA and the aggrieved employees; and (iv) notify the aggrieved employees that even if they do not cash their checks, they will be bound by the release. |
|--|---|

Plaintiff’s counsel must also provide a further revised [Proposed] Order Approving PAGA Settlement and Judgment with the following revisions:

1. Counsel attached the revised proposed order only as an exhibit to counsel’s supplemental declaration. However, counsel should separately submit the proposed order so that it has its own ROA number.
2. The ROA number of counsel’s supplemental declaration is not included in the proposed order. Moreover, as noted above, the Addendum submitted was executed only by counsel, not by the parties, so a further supplemental declaration by counsel will be required and must be referred to in a further revised proposed order and judgment.

Plaintiff’s counsel must file supplemental papers addressing the Court’s concerns no later than sixteen (16) court days prior to the continued hearing date. Counsel must also provide redlined versions of all revised papers and an explanation of how the pending issues were resolved with precise citation to any revisions. A supplemental declaration or brief that simply asserts the issues have been resolved is insufficient and will result in a continuance.

Plaintiff to give notice of this ruling, including to the LWDA, within five (5) court days, and file proof of service.
