

		contingent nature of fee award is relevant where it is “uncertain that the attorneys would be entitled to an award of fees even if they prevailed.” (Weeks v Baker & McKenzie (1998) 63 Cal.App.4th 1128, 1175.) On the other hand, the contingent nature is not generally sufficient where contingency is limited to whether or not the party will prevail. (Id., at pp. 1174-1175.) A multiplier is more typically seen in cases where counsel undertakes a difficult case in the public interest, not a personal injury case brought by a single plaintiff to recover her own economic damages. (Id., at p. 1174.) Here, the relevant factors do not support a multiplier. Plaintiff has not shown that the issues were novel or difficult, that the litigation required exceptional skill, or that the contingent risk exceeded the ordinary risk of nonrecovery. The case resolved before trial and did not involve complex proceedings or broader public-interest concerns. The Court therefore declines to apply a multiplier. Total Award The Court reduces the requested lodestar by $1,312.50 (reflecting a 2.5-hour reduction in the requested fee-motion time at Urner’s $525 hourly rate). The Court finds the resulting lodestar of $17,534.00 reasonable and declines to apply the requested 0.3 enhancement. Costs will be determined through the memorandum-of-costs procedure. (See Code Civ. Proc., § 1032; Cal. Rules of Court, rule 3.1700(a)(1).) Accordingly, Plaintiff is awarded $17,534.00 in attorney fees. Moving party to give notice

8.	2024-1396920 Centennial Bolt, Inc. vs. Cordova Bolt, Inc.	The Court grants Plaintiffs and Cross-Defendants Centennial Bolt, Inc. (“Centennial”) and Mark Cordova’s (“Mark”) Motion for attorney’s fees pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 425.16 for prevailing on their Special Motion to Strike (“Anti-SLAPP”). The Court awards Centennial and Mark the amount of $62,886 in fees against Plaintiff and Cross-Defendant Cordova Bolt. Legal Standard A “prevailing defendant” (or cross-defendant) on an anti-SLAPP motion “shall be entitled to recover his or her attorney fees and costs.” (Code Civ. Proc., § 425.16, subd. (c)(1); Ketchum v. Moses (2001) 24 Cal.4th 1122, 1133.)
