

|          |                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|----------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|          |                                                                                          | There is no prejudice, as trial has not yet been scheduled. Cross-complainants are ORDERED to file the FAXC within 5 days. Clerk to give notice.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 3 | Hauzer vs. Progressive Direct Insurance Company30-2025-01487777-CU-BC-CJC    | Motion to Deem Facts Admitted Off calendar. Reclassified to limited civil.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 4 | Providence Capital Funding, Inc. vs. Lozamira Inc.30-2025-01484900-CU-BC-CJC | Motion to Stay Enforcement of Abstract of Judgment Defendants' Motion to Stay Enforcement of Abstract of Judgment is DENIED. Defendants Rosa Lozano, MA. E. Miramontes Gamboa, and Gerardo Lozano, Jr. are currently defaulted and cannot take affirmative action in the case until default is set aside. (See Devlin v. Kearny Mesa AMC/Jeep/Renault, Inc. (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 381, 385.) Clerk to give notice. |
| 5 | Lugo vs. Cityside Networks, LLC30-2025-01496289-CU-OE-CJC                    | Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement Off calendar. Transferred to complex civil.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 6 | State Bar of California vs. Bosse30-2023-01339321-CU-PT-CJC                  | Motion to Terminate Jurisdiction Petitioner State Bar of California's unopposed Motion to Terminate the Court's Jurisdiction over Gregory Bosse's Law Practice is GRANTED. (See Bus. &amp; Prof. Code, § 6190.6.) The State Bar is authorized to destroy any remaining client files and property in its possession that are not original wills or trust documents. The case is dismissed. Clerk to give notice.    |
| 7 | Blumberg vs. Stroma Medical Corporation                                           | Motion to Tax Costs or for Revising Calculation of Post-Judgment Interest Continued at parties' request.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |