Case Name: FREDI CUELLAR et al vs MATILDA TRAINOR et al

Case No.: 23CV417950

Defendants move to compel further responses to Requests for Production, Set Two, and Special Interrogatories, Set Two.

Meet and Confer

To begin, the Court is not persuaded by Plaintiff's assertion that Defendants failed to properly meet and confer. In fact, the Court finds Plaintiff to be the more guilty party in this regard.

Although the Court is never impressed with meet and confer correspondence couched in terms of a "demand" and/or setting a 24-hour "deadline," Defendants' correspondence did set forth the bases for their concerns, and after the process began, Plaintiff more than once indicated that a response to Defendants' meet and confer effort would be provided - first prior to February 6, 2026, then by February 13, 2026. The promised response did not materialize. It appears that it was not until February 20, 2026, the final date for filing the motion to compel, that Plaintiff's counsel stated he could "talk." Nowhere in the correspondence before the Court did Plaintiff's counsel raise or specifically allude to any of his points in opposition to Defendants' position that the Court's May 23, 2025, order makes resolution of the issues simple. Waiting until the date the motion must be filed, two weeks after a response was initially promised, and then simply offering a live or telephonic conversation was too little and too late. Plaintiff is correct that as of January 1, 2026, a motion to compel shall be accompanied by a declaration showing "a reasonable and good faith attempt, either in person, by telephone, or by videoconference, to informally resolve each issue presented by the motion." (Code Civ. Proc., § 2016.040(a).) In lieu of demands and deadlines, Defendants' correspondence should have included such an offer, which could have then been memorialized in a compliant declaration if things could not be resolved. Under these circumstances, however, the Court will not hold Defendants to the letter of section 2016.040. Although these motions were filed February 20, 2026, the initial meet and confer process began in 2025. More importantly, Defendants here need not be held to an in person, telephonic, or videoconference standard to informally resolve each issue presented by the motion when Plaintiff never informs them what the issues are despite promises to do so.

To the contrary, the Court finds no tangible effort by Plaintiff to engage in a substantive meet and confer process until the date that the motion was due. This alone may be sufficient grounds to grant the motion. But here, the Court also believes Defendants should prevail on the merits.

Requests for Production

Defendants seek an order compelling production of the full, unredacted documents for RPD Nos. 40 and 41, redactions that conceal payor, booking, and traveler companion details.

Plaintiff represented that "subject to" objection he would comply and produce documents for RPD Nos. 40-41. Having agreed to produce, Plaintiff was not entitled to then redact responsive information without at minimum taking certain steps. Here, Plaintiff did not identify with particularity any information to which any objection was being made, and as to any assertions of privilege, Plaintiff's responses did not provide sufficient factual information for Defendants to evaluate the merits of that claim, including, if necessary, a privilege log. (Code Civ. Proc., § 2032.240.) Plaintiff gave no explanation for the redactions, until opposing this motion.

In response to this motion, Plaintiff argues, "Defendants have not shown specific good cause for disclosure of every redacted field, including financial account numbers, booking or confirmation codes, ticket numbers, or unrelated itinerary metadata." But Plaintiff gave and has given no basis for the redactions, and as the Court has previously noted, "[u]nder the Legislature's 'very liberal and flexible standard of relevancy,' any 'doubts as to relevance should generally be resolved in favor of permitting discovery.'" (Williams v. Superior Court (2017) 3 Cal.5th 531, 542, citing Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. v. Superior Court (1970) 2 Cal.3d 161, 173.) The relevance of this line of inquiry for discovery purposes remains apparent, as it did at the motion to compel answers at deposition. Defendants may explore the possibility of the existence of bias, interest, motive, information related to claimed damages for these expenses (even if minimal), and credibility regarding Plaintiff, percipient witnesses, and treating experts.

The Court can see no issues with the majority of the redacted categories on their face, such as booking reference, taxes and fees, flight confirmation #, Eticket #, airline confirmation, total, ticket number, and detailed charges. The Court can only speculate that "billing details" may contain the "account-number information and other highly sensitive identifiers" Plaintiff seems concerned about. The section regarding the phone number and email attributed to Plaintiff on the documents may be legitimately protected from broad dissemination, although that hardly seems like much of a concern either. Regardless, any concerns regarding the appearance of this information on the face of the documents can be addressed with a protective order.

Accordingly, Defendants' motion to compel production of the full, unredacted documents for RPD Nos. 40 and 41 is GRANTED, subject to a mutually agreed upon protective order.

Special Interrogatories

Plaintiff served his Responses to Special Interrogatories, Set Two, dated December 9, 2025, serving objections only to SROGs 70–77 and 79–82. The Court has considered the objections and they are OVERULED. The Court finds the inquiries sufficiently relevant for discovery purposes and the inquiries themselves, seeking only factual information regarding who paid for things and how much those things cost, does not implicate any privilege, and Plaintiff fails to establish any persuasive argument to the contrary.

Defendants motion to compel Plaintiff to provide further objection-free responses to Special Interrogatory Nos. 70–77 and 79–82 is GRANTED.

Sanctions

In their memorandum in support of the motion to compel further responses to special interrogatories, Defendants request monetary sanctions against Plaintiff and his counsel in the amount of $1,000. Defendants make no such request in their motion for further responses to requests for production. In addition, neither of Defendants' notices of motion make requests for sanctions. Accordingly, Defendants' requests for sanctions are DENIED.

Conclusion

Defendants' motion to compel production of the full, unredacted documents for RPD Nos. 40 and 41 is GRANTED, subject to a mutually agreed upon protective order. The parties shall meet and confer regarding the form of protective order and Plaintiff shall provide the ordered discovery within 20 days of the date of the hearing.

Defendants motion to compel Plaintiff to provide further objection-free responses to Special Interrogatory Nos. 70–77 and 79–82 is GRANTED. Plaintiff shall provide the ordered discovery within 20 days of the date of the hearing.

Defendants' requests for sanctions are DENIED.

Defendants shall prepare and submit the final order, accompanied by the necessary Form EFS-020, within 10 days of the date of the hearing.

Case Name: RYAN KOLSTAD vs SARAH EBRO et al

Case No.: 24CV446807

Plaintiff's motion for sanctions pursuant to Code of Civil Proc., §§ 128.7(b)(1) and (b)(3) is DENIED.

“Code of Civil Procedure section 128.7 should be utilized only in “the rare and exceptional case where the action is clearly frivolous, legally unreasonable or without legal foundation, or brought for an improper purpose.” (Operating Engineers Pension Trust v. A-C Co. (9th Cir. 1988) 859 F.2d 1336, 1344.)” (Kumar v. Ramsey (2021) 71 Cal.App.5th 1110, 1121.) Although Plaintiff's motion is unopposed, the Court does not find that the self-represented Defendant's assertions and arguments made in support of her motion to quash, although unsuccessful, rise to the level of sanctionable conduct under section 128.7.

The Court will prepare the final order.

Case Name: Corey M v. Damian Hernandez, et al.

Case No.: 25CV466415

Plaintiff seeks an order compelling Defendant XPO Logistics to provide further responses to interrogatories and requests monetary sanctions of $14,370.00.

The Court gleans from parties' papers that the following interrogatories were in dispute: Special Interrogatories 47-52, Special Interrogatory 65-66, and Form Interrogatories - Employment Law No. 216.1.

With respect to Special Interrogatories 47-52 and Form Interrogatories - Employment Law No. 216.1, the Court finds that Defendant has provided further responses to all the disputed interrogatories. Plaintiff's contention that Defendant's responses to Special Interrogatories Nos. 65-66 remain deficient, based solely on Plaintiff's disbelief regarding their completeness, is unpersuasive. The initial responses are no longer operative, and Defendant XPO has sufficiently addressed the relevant concerns. Thus, the Court finds that there is nothing left to accomplish by way of this motion, and there is nothing the Court can order that would or should result in more or different production. In this sense, Plaintiff's Motion to Compel Further Responses is MOOT.

Plaintiff also seeks sanctions against Defendant in the amount of $14,370.00. The request is well taken and is GRANTED. Defendant had a responsibility to provide responses as agreed upon between the parties by January 16, 2026. (See Decl. Levy, Exhibit 9). Defendant's failure to do so made bringing this motion necessary. Even after a party provides discovery responses, the court has authority to grant sanctions, even if it denies the motion to compel responses "as essentially unnecessary, in whole or in part." (Sinaiko Healthcare Consulting, Inc. v. Pacific Healthcare Consultants (2007) 148 Cal.App.4th 390, 409.) However, the Court finds Plaintiff's claimed eleven (11) hours to prepare the motion, anticipated six (6) hours for a reply, and anticipated one (1) hour to prepare and attend the hearing on this motion excessive under the circumstances. Accordingly, Defendant shall pay Plaintiff monetary sanctions in the amount of $6,360.00 within 20 days of the date of service of the final order.

Plaintiff shall prepare and submit the final order, accompanied by the necessary Form EFS-020, within 10 days of the date of the hearing.

Case Name: Shabana Pirani v. Costco Wholesale Corporation

Case No.: 25CV473157

Before the Court is Plaintiff Shaban Pirani's ("Plaintiff") motion to strike Defendant Costco Wholesale Corporation's ("Defendant") answer and request for entry of default. Pursuant to California Rule of Court 3.1308, the Court issues its tentative ruling as follows:

This is an action for damages arising out of a vehicle collision that purportedly occurred in a Costco parking lot. Plaintiff initiated this action on August 21, 2025, with the filing of a Judicial Form Complaint which asserts a variety of claims, including negligence. On October 22, 2025, Defendant filed its Answer to the Complaint. On January 26, 2026, Plaintiff filed the instant motion to strike Defendant's Answer and request for entry of default. Defendant opposes the motion.

As an initial matter, the Court admonishes Plaintiff that she was required under Code of Civil Procedure section 435.5 to meet and confer with Defendant prior to filing the instant motion. (See Code Civ. Proc., § 435.5, subd. (a).) Plaintiff has not filed a declaration attesting to having met and conferred with Defendant as required by the statute, and Defendant's counsel's own declaration affirms that no such meet and confer took place. (See Declaration of Brian D. Johnson in Support of Opposition to Motion to Strike and for Entry of Default ("Johnson Decl."), ¶ 2.) Despite this failure, which could be dispositive, the Court will address the merits of Plaintiff's motion in the interest of judicial economy.

Plaintiff's motion to strike Defendant's Answer is predicated on the following arguments: (1) she was never served with the Answer; (2) no proof of service for the Answer was filed with the Court; (3) Defendant's counsel "has no valid appearance and is subject to a separate default proceeding"; (4) and Defendant has failed to properly appear or defend this action. The Court does not find any of these arguments persuasive.

First, a code-compliant proof of service was filed with the Court on October 22, 2025 (see Code Civ. Proc., § 1013a), which reflects that service of the Answer was effectuated on Plaintiff by mail that day to the address provided by her, which is notably the same address that she lists in the header of this motion. This filing clearly defeats Plaintiff's contention that no proof of service was ever filed with the Court. Generally, the filing of a proof of service that complies with applicable statutory requirements creates by itself a rebuttable presumption that service was proper. (Dill v. Berquist Construction Co. (1994) 24 Cal.App.4th 1426, 1441.) The rebuttable presumption can only be dispelled by contradictory evidence. (See Craig v. Brown & Root (2000) 84 Cal.App.4th 416, 421.) Plaintiff provides contradictory evidence in the form of her declaration, wherein she states that she was not served with the Answer and only discovered it was filed by reviewing the Court docket. (Declaration of Shabana Pirani in Support of Motion to Strike ("Pirani Decl."), ¶ 2.)¹

Once the presumption of service is dispelled, the trier of fact shall determine the existence or non-existence of the fact from the evidence and any appropriate inferences that may be drawn from it. (Bonzer v. City of Huntington Park (1993) 20 Cal.App.4th 1474, 1479.) Thus, once the presumption of proper service is gone, the trier of fact must weigh the evidence and decide whether or not service was effected pursuant to the applicable statutory requirements. (See Craig, supra, 84 Cal.App.4th at 421-22 [“[I]f a party proves that a letter was mailed, the trier of fact is required to find that the letter was received in the absence of any believable contrary evidence. However, if the adverse party denies receipt, the presumption is gone from the case. The trier of fact must then weigh the denial of receipt against the inference of receipt arising from proof of mailing and decide whether or not the letter was received.”].)

The Court is not persuaded by Plaintiff’s assertion of non-service. First, the October 22nd proof of service indicates that service was also made via email to the address listed by Plaintiff on the heading of the instant motion (shabana.devani28@gmail.com), and Defendant submits a copy of the actual email that attached a copy of the Answer and was sent to Plaintiff’s listed email address. (Johnson Decl., ¶ 4, Exhibit B.) A PDF attachment is clearly visible in this email, which is titled “ANSWER,” which is strong circumstantial evidence that the attachment was Defendant Costco’s Answer. (Id., ¶ 3, Exhibit A.) While service by email is not the issue here, this evidence supports a inference that all correspondence regarding the delivery of the Answer was occurring as would be expected. Second, the veracity of all of the contents of Plaintiff’s declaration are called into question by several clear inaccuracies contained within, including where Plaintiff states that attorney S.J. Harmon appeared at a Case Management and that that appearance was “quashed by court order.” (Pirani Decl., ¶ 5.) Plaintiff failed to submit this order, which makes sense because the Court made no such order, and there is no indication that such an order exists. (Johnson Decl., ¶ 5.)

Troublingly, Plaintiff also states in her declaration that attorney Hammon “failed to respond” to a separate “civil complaint” that she filed against her for “improper appearance.” (Pirani Decl., ¶ 6.) But this is demonstrably false because, as Defendant explains, Hammon filed an anti-SLAPP motion in response to Plaintiff’s complaint against her, and such a motion is a responsive pleading. (Johnson Decl., ¶ 6, Exhibit 6; Britts v. Superior Court (2006) 145 Cal.App.4th 1112, 1118 [stating that an anti-SLAPP motion may be filed “in lieu of responding to the complaint.”].) In any event, even if what Plaintiff said was true, it has no bearing on whether Defendant’s answer should be stricken in this action.

Given the foregoing, Plaintiff’s motion to strike Defendant’s answer and request for entry of default is DENIED.

As for Defendant’s request for sanctions pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 128.5 (“Section 128.5”) on the ground that Plaintiff’s motion is frivolous and made in bad faith, the Court must deny this request based on Defendant’s failure to comply with the separate notice and safe harbor requirements of Section 128.5, subdivision (f). However, the Court cautions Plaintiff that had the foregoing procedural requirements been met, it very well might have imposed sanctions against her barring any form of unlikely justification. As Defendant notes, this is not the first time Plaintiff has attempted to strike its Answer, and her actions in this regard have included making demonstrably inaccurate representations to the Court. Plaintiff’s first request for entry of default was denied by clerk on November 4, 2025 based on Defendant having filed its Answer on October 22nd. Plaintiff’s request was supported by her declaration which contained misguided assertions that Defendant had failed to appear and that the Matheny Sears law firm did not represent it.

Despite the foregoing denial, Plaintiff again attempted to strike Defendant's Answer on November 10, 2025, filing a declaration asserting once again that the Matheny Sears firm was not representing Defendant, claiming that she was not served with the Answer, and claiming the Answer was filed late. She filed a further declaration on November 25, 2025, wherein she falsely stated that the Answer had been "struck and quashed." Plaintiff filed yet another declaration on December 1, 2025, falsely claiming that the Court had "properly quashed and struck" Defendant's Answer and seeking Defendant's default damages of $5,250,000. On December 19, 2025, the Court clerk denied entry of default, informing Plaintiff for a second time that Defendant had filed an Answer on October 22nd.

Plaintiff nevertheless again pursued entry of default with the instant motion based on suspect factual contentions. It is clear to the Court that Plaintiff is attempting to obtain a default and judgment without litigating the underlying merits of her claims and is doing so by making the instant motion and multiple prior requests for entry of default in contravention of law and legal authority, which at some point will transition to bad faith if it has not already. Sanctions may be imposed under Section 128.5 for "actions or tactics, made in bad faith, that are frivolous or solely intended to cause unnecessary delay" (Code Civ. Proc., § 128.5, subd. (a)) and "actions or tactics" in includes the filing of motions" (Code Civ. Proc., § 128.5, subd. (b)(1)). "Frivolous" means "totally and completely without merit or for the sole purpose of harassing an opposing party." (Code Civ. Proc., § 128.5, subd. (b)(2).) The Court recognizes that Plaintiff is self-represented, but such individuals are held to the same standards as attorneys. (See Rappleyea v. Campbell (1994) 8 Cal.4th 975, 984-985 [requiring or permitting exceptional treatment of parties who represent themselves would lead to a quagmire in the trial courts, and would be unfair to the other parties to litigation"].)

The Court will prepare the final order.

Case Name: Shabana Pirani v. Petrinovich Pugh & Co.

Case No.: 25CV473159

Before the Court is Plaintiff Shabana Pirani's ("Plaintiff") motion to strike Defendant Petrinovich Pugh & Co.'s ("Defendant") answer and request for entry of default. Pursuant to California Rule of Court 3.1308, the Court issues its tentative ruling as follows:

This is an action which appears to arise out of Defendant's decision to terminate Plaintiff's employment. Plaintiff initiated this action on August 21, 2025, with the filing of the Judicial Form Complaint which asserts a variety of claims, including negligence and an unspecified intentional tort. On October 9, 2025, Defendant filed its Answer to the Complaint. On January 26, 2026, Plaintiff filed the instant motion to strike Defendant's Answer and request for entry of default. Defendant opposes the motion.

As an initial matter, the Court admonishes Plaintiff that she was required under Code of Civil Procedure section 435.5 to meet and confer with Defendant prior to filing the instant motion. (See Code Civ. Proc., § 435.5, subd. (a).) Plaintiff has not filed a declaration attesting to having met and conferred with Defendant as required by the statute. Despite this failure, which could be dispositive, the Court will address the merits of Plaintiff's motion in the interest of judicial economy.

Plaintiff's motion to strike Defendant's Answer is predicated on the following arguments: (1) the Answer is untimely; (2) the Answer was not properly served on Plaintiff; (3) no proof of service for the Answer was filed with the Court; and (4) Defendant's counsel is "unauthorized" and may not appear on Defendant's behalf because they did not file a notice of appearance. The Court does not find any of these arguments persuasive.

First, Code of Civil Procedure section 412.20, subdivision (a)(3), provides that a defendant's answer to a complaint is due within 30 days after its service. Pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 1010.6, subdivision (b)(3), and Santa Clara County Superior Court Local Rule No. 6, a filing must be received by the Court by 5 p.m. to have it deemed filed the same day. According to the Court's filing system, Defendant's Answer was submitted for filing on October 9, 2025 at 4:31 p.m., which is 30 days after Defendant was served with the Complaint on September 9, 2025. Plaintiff urges that this filing was "after hours" and therefore must be deemed filed the next court day. But this is incorrect as a matter of law, and Plaintiff appears to be relying on non-existent case law, which concerns the Court,² as well as irrelevant court rules.³ The Court recognizes that Plaintiff is self-represented, but cautions her that such individuals are held to the same standards as attorneys. (See Rappleyea v. Campbell (1994) 8 Cal.4th 975, 984-985 [requiring or permitting exceptional treatment of parties who represent themselves would lead to a quagmire in the trial courts, and would be unfair to the other parties to litigation”].) Relying on fictitious legal authority is potentially sanctionable conduct. (See In re Domestic Partnership of Torres Campos & Munoz (2026) 118 Cal.App.5th 1112, 1129.) That said, Defendant’s Answer was clearly timely and therefore will not be struck on this basis.

² Plaintiff cites Keller v. Jordan (2005) 126 Cal.App.4th 1407, 1414, which the Court was unable to locate.

³ Plaintiff cites California Rules of Court, rule 2.261(a) for the proposition that documents filed after court hours are deemed filed on the next court day. Not only does rule 2.261 not have a subdivision (a), but it does not relate to when a document submitted for filing is to be deemed filed. Instead, it merely provides that courts that participated in pilot programs for electronic filing and forms generation under former rule 981.5 are authorized to continue to modify Judicial Council forms for that purpose.

As for the service issue, Plaintiff argues that the Answer should be stricken because she did not consent to electronic service. However, a code-compliant proof of service was filed with the Court on October 9, 2025 (see Code Civ. Proc., § 1013a), which reflects that service of the Answer was effectuated on Plaintiff by mail that day to the address provided by her, which is notably the same address that she lists in the header of this motion. This filing clearly defeats Plaintiff’s contention that no proof of service was ever filed with the Court. Generally, the filing of a proof of service that complies with applicable statutory requirements creates by itself a rebuttable presumption that service was proper. (Dill v. Berquist Construction Co. (1994) 24 Cal.App.4th 1426, 1441.) The rebuttable presumption can only be dispelled by contradictory evidence. (See Craig v. Brown & Root (2000) 84 Cal.App.4th 416, 421.) In her declaration filed in support of her motion,⁴ Plaintiff argues that Defendant’s counsel admitted to serving her electronically, but nowhere in her declaration does she address whether she received the copy of the Answer purportedly served on her via mail. Thus, she has not provided contradictory evidence which dispels the presumption of proper service, and the Court will not strike the Answer on this basis.

As for Plaintiff’s remaining argument, she cites no applicable legal authority to support her assertion that Defendant and its counsel were not authorized to participate in this action due to not filing a notice of appearance.⁵ Defendant timely filed its Answer in this case, which served as its notice of appearance in this matter, and there is simply no reason to strike it and grant Plaintiff’s request for entry of default. Therefore, Plaintiff’s motion to strike Defendant’s answer and request for entry of default is DENIED.

The Court will prepare the final order.

- oo0oo -

⁴ The Court notes that any independently filed and procedurally unattached and inappropriate declarations filed before the notice of this motion, which was filed on January 26, 2026, are not before the Court.

Case Name: Atul D. Shinde v. PLM Loan Management Service, Inc. et al.

Case No.: 25CV481591

Before the Court is Defendant PLM Loan Management Services, Inc.’s (“Defendant” or “PLM”) demurrer to the first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth causes of action alleged in the complaint filed by Plaintiff Atul D. Shinde (“Plaintiff” or “Shinde”).

This is an action to quiet title. According to the allegations of the complaint, Shinde has continuously owned and occupied real property located at 22764 Majestic Oak Way, Cupertino, California, 95014 (the “Property”) since 2004. (Complaint, ¶ 12.) The Property was encumbered by two deeds of trust: a first deed of trust in favor of Quicken Loans and a second-position deed of trust in favor of TechCU (“TCU”) securing a debt with a balance of approximately $56,000, plus accrued interest, fees, and foreclosure costs totaling approximately $64,485.62 (the “Second Lien”). (Id. at ¶ 13.) TCU initiated nonjudicial foreclosure proceedings. (Id. at ¶ 15.) Ole M. Pedersen (“Pedersen”) submitted a winning bid of $308,203. (Id. at ¶ 17.) After satisfaction of the Second Lien and other costs, surplus proceeds of approximately $233,000 remain. (Ibid.)

Shinde filed the complaint on December 10, 2025, alleging the following causes of action: (1) quiet title – no trustee authority after reconveyance; (2) quiet title and voidable sale – statutory violations and procedural irregularities; (3) cancellation of instruments; (4) equitable set-aside of trustee’s sale; (5) declaratory relief; (6) wrongful foreclosure; (7) injunctive relief; and (8) violation of automatic bankruptcy stay.

The Court GRANTS judicial notice of Exhibits 1 through 9 to PLM’s request for judicial notice under Evidence Code section 452, subdivisions (c) and (d). (PLM’s Request for Judicial Notice (“RJN”), Exs. 1-9; see Evid. Code, ¶ 452, subds. (c), (d).) The Court takes judicial notice of the existence of these exhibits but does not take notice of the truth of any disputed contents of these exhibits. (See Oh v. Teachers Ins. & Annuity Assn. of America (2020) 53 Cal.App.5th 71, 80-81 [truth of contents of court records cannot be judicially noticed]; Ragland v. U.S. Bank National Assn. (2012) 209 Cal.App.4th 182, 194 [“While courts may notice official acts and public records, we do not take judicial notice of the truth of all matters stated therein.”], internal citations and quotation marks omitted.)

The Court OVERRULES PLM’s demurrer to the entire complaint on the grounds that Code of Civil Procedure section 430.10, subdivision (c) bars this action. A party may demur on the ground that there “is another action pending between the same parties on the same cause of action.” (Code Civ. Proc., § 430.10, subd. (c).) Shinde’s opposition notes that the complaint Shinde filed in case no. 25CV468701 has been dismissed in its entirety. (Shinde’s Opposition to PLM’s Demurrer (“Opposition”), p. 3:24-27.) PLM has “withdrawn” its argument on this basis. (See PLM’s Reply in Support of Demurrer (“Reply”), p. 10:11-16.)

The Court SUSTAINS PLM’s demurrer to the complaint’s first cause of action with 10 days’ leave to amend. The purpose of a quiet title action is to establish title against adverse claims or interest in real property. (Code Civ. Proc., § 760.020.) Civil Code section 2941 states that “the beneficiary or the assignee of the beneficiary shall execute and deliver to the trustee the original note, deed of trust, request for a full reconveyance, and other documents as
