County: stanislaus

Division: Civil Law and Motion

Department: 21

Hearing date: 2012-04-02

Motion: In this case after a post-trial judgment, Plaintiff asserted she was entitled to payment of $106,608.11 plus daily interest. Defense counsel responded, "My client will have the check delivered to your office tomorrow," then delivered a check for just over $101,000. Defense counsel asserted the further attorney fees were not due after delivering the check and being questioned on it. Plaintiff cashed the check on April 21 of this year. Defendant filed this motion on June 12, 2026. Plaintiff filed a full satisfaction of judgment on June 23, 2026, mooted the dispute over the amount owed. Under these circumstances, the Court declines to issue sanctions. The response that the check was on its way without noting a contest on the amount makes the claim that this judgment was plainly satisfied unclear at best. The fact that further efforts to collect the remaining amount were not made is not dispositive.
