TENTATIVE RULING

The parties are ordered to appear. The parties may appear in person in Department 414 or remotely by Zoom video. If a party chooses to appear by video, that party must abide by the Notice and Instructions for Remote Appearances in San Francisco Family Court set forth above.

A. PROCEDURAL HISTORY

1. The parties are Petitioner Huaichun Lei and Respondent Najian Huang. The parties were married on March 13, 2015. They share two minor children.
2. On 7/11/24, Petitioner filed a Petition for Dissolution listing the date of separation as 4/1/19.
3. On 8/16/24, Respondent filed a Response and Request for Dissolution listing the date of separation as 7/19/24. Respondent checked item 8a. on her Response, indicating a request for spousal support orders.
4. On 11/14/24, Respondent filed a Request for Order seeking child custody, visitation, and child support, but not spousal support. The child support request was later transferred to Department 416 (now Department 414).
5. On 5/22/25, the Court made a series of orders regarding businesses owned by Petitioner, Blue Mountain Payments (BMP) and N&H Investment LLC. The Court then stayed those orders on 11/26/25 and recommended that Respondent consider retaining a joint 730 expert for business characterization and valuation.

- 1 6. On 7/1/25, the Court ordered Petitioner to pay Respondent guideline child support in the amount
2 of $4,405.00 retroactive to 12/01/24 and payable on the first day of the based on Petitioner having 3 a 25% timeshare with the children.
- 4 7. On 2/24/26, Respondent filed an Income and Expense Declaration and a Request for Order.
5 Respondent seeks $6,000 per month in spousal support, or alternatively, guideline support
6 retroactive to the earliest possible date. Respondent contends that Petitioner's income is at least 7 three times the amount of her income and is more than what is reflected on his Income and 8 Expense Declarations.
- 9 8. Respondent additionally seeks 1) a determination as to the date of separation; 2) orders regarding 10 disputed transactions, payroll and personal expenses; 3) "procedural protections" regarding a 11 section 730 expert report; and 4) $10,000 in attorney's fees and costs. Finally, Respondent
12 contends that Petitioner owes $25,251.32 in child support arrears but does not explicitly request
13 any orders regarding the alleged arrears.
- 14 9. On 3/13/26, Petitioner filed an Income and Expense Declaration and a Response opposing 15 Respondent's requested orders. Petitioner asserts that Respondent has substantial monthly income 16 and that his own ability to pay spousal support is limited, as the current child support order is 17 based on inflated income, and he is paying $1,100 in arrears in addition to $4,400 in ongoing
18 support. Petitioner contends there is no income disparity warranting attorney's fees and costs. He 19 requests the Court reserve jurisdiction over the date of separation, deny Respondent's remaining
20 requests as vague and unsupported, and award $5,000 in sanctions under Family Code section 21 271.
- 22 10. On 3/16/26, Respondent filed a declaration with an attachment purportedly demonstrating that 23 Petitioner's claims of limited income are inaccurate and misleading. The declaration attaches 24 numerous financial documents.
- 25 11. On 3/19/26, Petitioner filed an objection to Respondent's 3/16 declaration on the basis that it
26 introduces new evidence on reply. Petitioner contends that Respondent's analysis of his income is 27 flawed and reiterates his request for section 271 sanctions against Respondent on the basis that 28 she has filed multiple requests for orders as a procedural tactic designed to delay proceedings and 29 increase Petitioner's attorney fees.

1 12. On 3/23/26, Respondent filed a declaration attaching further financial information meant to 2 demonstrate Petitioner's purported ability to pay temporary spousal support and need based 3 attorney's fees.
