

		interrogatories of such breadth are proper in this case, an omission that reasonably suggests lack of a proper discovery objective.” (Id.) It states that “[t]he time available before the motion filing deadline, and the extent to which the responding party was complicit in the lapse of available time, can ... be relevant,” and that an “evaluation of whether, from the perspective of a reasonable person in the position of the discovering party, additional effort appeared likely to bear fruit, should also be considered.” (Id.) The “level of effort that is reasonable is different in different circumstances, and may vary with the prospects for success. These are considerations entrusted to the trial court's discretion and judgment, with due regard for all relevant circumstances.” (Id. at 432-33.) Plaintiff’s 1 ½ page letter addressing her document demands, form interrogatories and requests for production of documents is not sufficient to comply with Plaintiff’s meet and confer obligation. The letter cites to no legal authority. Filing the motion without at least sending a follow-up email, letter or making a telephone call was premature and does not demonstrate a good faith effort pursuant to Code Civ. Proc., § 2016.040. Therefore, the motion is denied for failure to properly meet and confer. Defendant shall give notice.
