

10. 26CV00544 JOHL, AMANDEEP ET AL v. MUBARAKA, ADEL ET AL

EVENT: Motion to Consolidate Cases

“In unlawful detainer proceedings, ordinarily the only triable issue is the right to possession of the disputed premises, along with incidental damages,” and “[o]rdinarily, issues respecting the title to the property cannot be adjudicated in an unlawful detainer action.” Martin-Bragg v. Moore (2013) 219 Cal.App.4th 367, 385. The narrow power to consolidate exists because “a successful claim of title by the tenant would defeat the landlord’s right to possession.” Ibid. Here, Plaintiffs do not claim to own the premises. Rather, the Complaint acknowledges that the Defendants own the property. [See Complaint at ¶28; Exh. 7]. The parties disagree only about how long Plaintiffs’ lease runs. A successful claim by Plaintiffs would not defeat the Defendants’ title — which should more properly be litigated in the unlawful detainer action. Issues of whether the lease expired, and whether an option to extend was validly exercised, are precisely the questions an unlawful detainer court resolves in summarily deciding the right to possession. Therefore, consolidation pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure §1048 is inappropriate here and the Motion is denied.
