BACKGROUND

Factual Background

On September 11, 2025, plaintiff Christine Chandraung ("Plaintiff") filed a Complaint against defendants Pacific Apartment Homes, LLC, Anza 20720, LLC, BD Management Company, LLC ("Defendant"), and DOES 1 through 100.

On February 17, 2026, Plaintiff filed the First Amended Complaint ("FAC") against defendants Pacific Apartment Homes, LLC, Anza 20720, LLC ("Defendant"), BD Management Company, LLC, and DOES 1 through 100. The FAC includes two causes of action: (1) Violation of Civil Code section 1946.2 and (2) Unfair Competition (Bus. & Professions Code section 17200, et seq.).

On January 12, 2026, Plaintiff served Defendant with discovery requests, which consisted of: (1) Special Interrogatories, Set One, and (2) Requests for Production, Set One. (Declaration of John A. Kelly re: SROG ("Kelly Decl. re: SROG"), ¶ 2, Exh. A; Declaration of John A. Kelly re: RPD ("Kelly Decl. re: RPD"), ¶ 2, Exh. A.) On February 27, 2026, Defendant provided its initial responses to these requests. (Kelly Decl. re: SROG, ¶ 3, Exh. B; Kelly Decl. re: RPD, ¶ 3, Exh. B.)

On April 1, 2026, Plaintiff's counsel sent a meet-and-confer letter to Defendant, outlining several perceived deficiencies in Special Interrogatories Nos. 14-17 and 24, as well as in Requests for Production Nos. 10, 14, 15, 17, 18, 21, and 22. (Kelly Decl. re: SROG, ¶ 4, Exh. C; Kelly Decl. re: RPD, ¶ 4, Exh. C.) Within the letter, Plaintiff further requested that Defendant provide a response within a span of seven calendar days. (Kelly Decl. re: SROG, ¶ 4, Exh. C; Kelly Decl. re: RPD, ¶ 4, Exh. C.)

On the same day, Defendant's counsel requested an extension to respond to the meet-and-confer letter, specifically seeking an extension until April 22, 2026. (Kelly Decl. re: SROG, ¶ 5; Kelly Decl. re: RPD, ¶ 5.) Plaintiff's counsel confirmed via email on April 1, 2026, that this extension was granted. (Kelly Decl. re: SROG, ¶ 5; Kelly Decl. re: RPD, ¶ 5.) On April 13, 2026, Plaintiff's counsel sent a follow-up email affirming that the response deadline for the meet-and-confer letter had been extended to April 22, 2026. (Kelly Decl. re: SROG, ¶ 5; Kelly Decl. re: RPD, ¶ 5.) Furthermore, Plaintiff's counsel stated that the deadline for Plaintiff to file the motion to compel had also been extended to May 6, 2026. (Kelly Decl. re: SROG, ¶ 5; Kelly Decl. re: RPD, ¶ 5.)

On April 22, 2026, Defendant provided supplemental objections and responses, along with a meet-and-confer letter addressing these objections. (Kelly Decl. re: SROG, ¶¶ 6-7, Exhs. D-E; Kelly Decl. re: RPD, ¶¶ 6-7, Exhs. D-E.)

LEGAL STANDARD

Code of Civil Procedure section 2030.300 provides that "[o]n receipt of a response to interrogatories, the propounding party may move for an order compelling a further response if the propounding party deems that" the responses contain: (1) answers that are evasive or incomplete; (2) an unwarranted or insufficiently specific exercise of an option to produce documents in lieu of a substantive response; or (3) unmerited or overly generalized objections. (Code Civ. Proc., § 2030.300, subd. (a).) "[N]otice of this motion is given within 45 days of the service of the verified response, or any supplemental verified response, or on or before any specific later date to which the propounding party and the responding party have agreed in writing, the propounding party waives any right to compel a further response to the interrogatories.” (Code Civ. Proc., §2030.300, subd. (c).) Moreover, “[a] motion under subdivision (a) shall be accompanied by a meet and confer declaration under Section 2016.040.” (Code Civ. Proc., §2030.300, subd. (b)(1).)

Additionally, “Unless otherwise limited by order of the court in accordance with this title, any party may obtain discovery regarding any matter, not privileged, that is relevant to the subject matter involved in the pending action or to the determination of any motion made in that action, if the matter either is itself admissible in evidence or appears reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.” (Code of Civ. Proc., § 2017.010.) For discovery purposes, information is regarded as relevant “if it might reasonably assist a party in evaluating the case, preparing for trial, or facilitating settlement thereof.” (City of Los Angeles v. Superior Court (2017) 9 Cal.App.5th 272, 288.)

“The court shall impose a monetary sanction under Chapter 7 (commencing with Section 2023.010) against any party, person, or attorney who unsuccessfully makes or opposes a motion to compel a further response to interrogatories, unless it finds that the one subject to the sanction acted with substantial justification or that other circumstances make the imposition of the sanction unjust.” (Code Civ. Proc., §2030.300, subd. (d).)

A motion to compel further responses to a demand for inspection or production of documents may be brought based on: (1) incomplete statements of compliance; (2) inadequate, evasive, or incomplete claims of inability to comply; or (3) unmeritorious or overly generalized objections. (Code Civ. Proc., § 2031.310, subd. (a).) Moreover, “[t]he motion shall be accompanied by a meet and confer declaration under Section 2016.040.” (Code Civ. Proc., §2031.310, subd. (b)(2).)

A motion to compel further production must set forth specific facts showing good cause justifying the discovery sought by the inspection demand. (Code Civ. Proc., § 2031.310, subd. (b)(1).) “To establish good cause, a discovery proponent must identify a disputed fact that is of consequence in the action and explain how the discovery sought will tend in reason to prove or disprove that fact or lead to other evidence that will tend to prove or disprove the fact.” (Digital Music News LLC v Superior Court (2014) 226 Cal.App.4th 216, 224 (“Digital Music News LLC”).) If the moving party has shown good cause for the requests for production, the burden is on the objecting party to justify the objections. (Kirkland v. Superior Court (2002) 95 Cal. App.4th 92, 98.)

“[T]he court shall impose a monetary sanction under Chapter 7 (commencing with Section 2023.010) against any party, person, or attorney who unsuccessfully makes or opposes a motion to compel further response to a demand, unless it finds that the one subject to the sanction acted with substantial justification or that other circumstances make the imposition of the sanction unjust.” (Code Civ. Proc., § 2031.310, subd. (h).)

Under Code of Civil Procedure

section 2023.030, subdivision (a), “The court may impose a monetary sanction ordering that one engaging in the misuse of the discovery process, or any attorney advising that conduct, or both pay the reasonable expenses, including attorney’s fees, incurred by anyone as a result of that conduct. The court may also impose this sanction on one unsuccessfully asserting that another has engaged in the misuse of the discovery process, or on any attorney who advised that assertion, or on both. If a monetary sanction is authorized by any provision of this title, the court shall impose that sanction unless it finds that the one subject to the sanction acted with substantial justification or that other circumstances make the imposition of the sanction unjust.” (Code Civ. Proc., § 2023.030, subd.

(a).) “Misuses of the discovery process include ... (d) Failing to respond or to submit to an authorized method of discovery.” (Code Civ. Proc., § 2023.010, subd. (d).)

“The court may award sanctions under the Discovery Act in favor of a party who files a motion to compel discovery, even though no opposition to the motion was filed, or opposition to the motion was withdrawn, or the requested discovery was provided to the moving party after the motion was filed.” (Cal. Rules of Court, rule 3.1348(a).)

MEET AND CONFER REQUIREMENT

Plaintiff was required to meet and confer with Defendant before filing these motions. (Code Civ. Proc., §§ 2030.300, subd. (b)(1), 2031.310, subd. (b)(2).) Code of Civil Procedure section 2016.040 states that a meet and confer declaration “in support of a motion [to compel] shall state facts showing a reasonable and good faith attempt at an informal resolution of each issue presented by the motion.” (Code Civ. Proc., § 2016.040.) “ ‘The parties must present to each other the merits of their respective positions with the same candor, specificity and support during informal negotiations as during the briefing of discovery motions. Only after all the cards have been laid on the table, and a party has meaningfully assessed the relative strengths and weaknesses of its position in light of all available information, can there be a ‘sincere’ effort to resolve the matter.’ ” (In re Marriage of Moore (2024) 102 Cal.App.5th 1275, 1293-1294, quoting Townsend v. Superior Court (1998) 61 Cal.App.4th 1431, 1435.)

On April 1, 2026, Plaintiff’s counsel sent a meet-and-confer letter to Defendant, outlining several perceived deficiencies in Special Interrogatories Nos. 14-17 and 24, as well as in Requests for Production Nos. 10, 14, 15, 17, 18, 21, and 22. (Kelly Decl. re: SROG, ¶ 4, Exh. C; Kelly Decl. re: RPD, ¶ 4, Exh. C.) Within the letter, Plaintiff further requested that Defendant provide a response within a span of seven calendar days. (Kelly Decl. re: SROG, ¶ 4, Exh. C; Kelly Decl. re: RPD, ¶ 4, Exh. C.)

On the same day, Defendant’s counsel requested an extension to respond to the meet-and-confer letter, specifically seeking an extension until April 22, 2026. (Kelly Decl. re: SROG, ¶ 5; Kelly Decl. re: RPD, ¶ 5.) Plaintiff’s counsel confirmed via email on April 1, 2026, that this extension was granted. (Kelly Decl. re: SROG, ¶ 5; Kelly Decl. re: RPD, ¶ 5.) On April 13, 2026, Plaintiff’s counsel sent a follow-up email affirming that the response deadline for the meet-and-confer letter had been extended to April 22, 2026. (Kelly Decl. re: SROG, ¶ 5; Kelly Decl. re: RPD, ¶ 5.) Furthermore, Plaintiff’s counsel stated that the deadline for Plaintiff to file the motion to compel had also been extended to May 6, 2026. (Kelly Decl. re: SROG, ¶ 5; Kelly Decl. re: RPD, ¶ 5.)

On April 22, 2026, Defendant provided supplemental objections and responses, along with a meet-and-confer letter addressing these objections. (Kelly Decl. re: SROG, ¶¶ 6-7, Exhs. D-E; Kelly Decl. re: RPD, ¶¶ 6-7, Exhs. D-E.)

Consequently, the Court finds that Plaintiff sufficiently met and conferred in good faith prior to filing these motions.

DISCUSSION

Plaintiff moves to compel further responses to Special Interrogatories Nos. 14, 15, 16, 17, and 24, as well as Requests for Production Nos. 10, 14, 15, 17, 18, 21, and 22. (Notice of SROG MTCF, pp. 1:28-2:2; Notice of RPD MTCF, pp. 1:28-2:2.)

Motion to Compel Further Responses to Special Interrogatories, Set One

The Court has examined the papers and the separate statements concerning Special Interrogatories Nos. 14, 15, 16, 17, and 24. The Court provides categorical analyses of the requests below. Upon careful review, the Court finds that Defendant is obligated to produce some of the requested information.

Special Interrogatory Nos. 14 to 16

In Special Interrogatory No. 14, Plaintiff requests: "State by name all tenants at the PROPERTY who received a notice similar to the NOTICE from January 1, 2022, to the present." (SROG Separate Statement, p. 2:2-3.)

In Special Interrogatory No. 15, Plaintiff requests: "For each tenant identified in response to Special Interrogatory No. 14, state their contact information, including last known address, telephone number, and email address." (SROG Separate Statement, p. 5:8-9.)

In Special Interrogatory No. 16, Plaintiff requests: "For each tenant identified in response to Special Interrogatory No. 14, state the unit address at the PROPERTY associated with their tenancy." (SROG Separate Statement, p. 8:16-17.)

Defendant initially contends that this information should not be provided because Plaintiff does not require it to substantiate their claims of unfair competition and violations of Civil Code section 1946.2. (SROG Opp., p. 5:3-25.) However, the pertinent question is not whether this information is required for asserting a claim, but rather whether Plaintiff's request pertains to privileged, irrelevant, or inadmissible information or evidence.

Furthermore, Defendant asserts, without supporting evidence, that Plaintiff will utilize this information to solicit potential clients for a subsequent lawsuit. (SROG Opp., p. 5:25-28.) .

Defendant also argues that the requests are overly broad, as it did not acquire the relevant premises until November 2024, and no notices for substantial renovations were issued until after the acquisition took place. (SROG Opp., p. 6:1-6.)

As Plaintiff notes, their claims and allegations concerning "and pattern-and-practice allegations are not bounded by when [Defendant] took title. [Defendant's] successor liability, the conduct of affiliated entities before [Defendant's] acquisition, and the broader context of [Defendant's] remodel-notice practices are squarely at issue." (SROG MTCF, p. 4:21-24.) Consequently, the Court determines that including records from the two years preceding the acquisition is warranted. Plaintiff will utilize the requested information to illustrate a pattern and practice of issuing defective notices that potentially displace tenants, including those who did not reside at the property in question. (SROG MTCF, p. 2:8.)

Lastly, Defendant argues that the requested information is protected under the privacy rights of the individuals involved. (SROG Opp., p. 6:7-26.)

Article 1 of the California

Constitution recognizes a constitutional right to privacy, which "protects an individual's reasonable expectation of privacy against a serious invasion." (Faunce v. Cate (2013) 222 Cal.App.4th 166, 171.) Under California law, even highly relevant, non-privileged information may be shielded from discovery if its disclosure would violate a person's inalienable right to privacy. (See Britt v. Superior Court (1978) 20 Cal.3d 844, 855-856.) The right to privacy protects the individual's reasonable expectation of privacy against a serious invasion. (Pioneer Electronics (USA), Inc. v. Superior Court (2007) 40 Cal.4th 360, 370.) In general, when evaluating a discovery dispute that involves a privacy claim, the trial court should apply the framework outlined in Hill v. National Collegiate Athletic Assn. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 1 (Hill).

First, a claimant must demonstrate that they have a “legally protected privacy interest.” (Hill, supra, 7 Cal.4th at p. 35.) Second, the claimant must show that they have a reasonable expectation of privacy given the circumstances, which include the customs, practices, and physical settings surrounding particular activities. (Id. at pp. 36-37.) Third, the invasion of privacy must be serious in terms of its nature, scope, and actual or potential impact. (Id. at p. 37.) If there is a reasonable expectation of privacy and the invasion of privacy is serious, then the court must balance the privacy interest at stake against other competing or countervailing interests. (Id. at pp. 37-40.)

The California Supreme Court has clarified that when applying the Hill analysis, the initial burden of demonstrating a privacy interest rests with the party asserting such an interest. (Williams v. Superior Court (2017) 3 Cal.5th 531, 552.) The Court has refuted case law that mandates a party seeking the discovery of private information to prove a compelling interest; instead, the responsibility lies with the party opposing the discovery to delineate the extent and seriousness of the anticipated invasion of privacy. (Id. at p. 557.) “What suffices to justify an invasion will...vary according to the context.” (Ibid.) Only obvious invasions of interests fundamental to personal autonomy must be supported by a compelling interest. (Id. at p. 556.)

Defendant identifies a legally protected privacy interest, asserting that “California courts recognize that individuals have a substantial interest in the privacy of their home[.]” as established in Planned Parenthood Golden Gate v. Superior Court (2000) 83 Cal.App.4th 347, 359. (SROG Opp., p. 6:13-15.) Furthermore, Defendant argues, and the Court concurs, that “tenants who also received a 60-day notice to terminate their tenancy have a reasonable expectation of privacy in their personal information.” (SROG Opp., p. 6:22-23.) However, Defendant makes no attempt to demonstrate that the invasion of privacy is serious in terms of its nature, scope, and actual or potential impact. Consequently, the Court is unable to determine that the requested information is protected.

As such, Plaintiff's request to compel further responses to Special Interrogatory Nos. 14 to 16 is GRANTED.

Special
Interrogatory No. 17

Plaintiff requests: "For each tenant identified in response to Special Interrogatory No. 14, state the outcome of their receipt of the notice similar to the NOTICE, i.e., whether they vacated, contested, or any other resolution." (SROG Separate Statement, p. 11:24-26.)

Defendant once again raises arguments regarding "necessity" and privacy concerns. (SROG Opp., p. 7:17-25.) As discussed above, the Court finds these arguments to be unpersuasive.

Furthermore, Defendant asserts that it has adequately addressed the inquiry by stating, "All tenants who were served with the 60-day notice to quit vacated by the expiration of the 60-day notice to quit." (SROG Opp., p. 7:2-17.)

Defendant's response answers Plaintiff's request in a manner that is "complete and straightforward as the information reasonably available to the responding party permits." (Code Civ. Proc., § 2030.220.) Plaintiff argues that "[t]he interrogatory calls for the outcome as to each tenant identified, meaning [Defendant] must state, unit by unit, whether that individual tenant vacated, contested the notice, negotiated a resolution, or reached some other arrangement." (SROG Reply, p. 5:23-25.) The Court disagrees. Plaintiff did not clearly request that Defendant provide the outcome on a unit-by-unit basis for each notice to vacate.

Rather, the interrogatory simply requires Defendant to "state the outcome of their receipt of the notice similar to the NOTICE, i.e., whether they vacated, contested, or any other resolution." If Defendant can adequately respond in a single sentence, the Court takes no issue with such a response.

As such, Plaintiff's request to compel a further response to Special Interrogatory No. 17 is DENIED.

Special
Interrogatory No. 24

Plaintiff requests: "Identify all AFFILIATED PROPERTIES by address where YOU issued notices citing SUBSTANTIAL REMODEL from January 1, 2022, to the present.” (SROG Separate Statement, p. 15:5-6.)

Defendant initially raises objections to the interrogatory, arguing that it is overly broad and irrelevant. (SROG Opp., p. 8:3-8.) However, the Court finds these objections to be without merit.

The assertion that the request is overly broad relies on the claim that Defendant did not acquire the relevant property until November 2024 and that no notices of substantial renovations were issued prior to that acquisition. The Court deems this argument unpersuasive for the reasons articulated in prior discussions. Similarly, the argument of irrelevance based on the notion of “necessity” is unconvincing for the reasons discussed above.

Furthermore, Defendant introduces a new objection, stating that this request is vague, uncertain, and unintelligible because the term “AFFILIATED PROPERTIES” is not defined as required under Code of Civil Procedure section 2030.060, subdivision (e). (SROG Opp., p. 8:8-22.) The Court disagrees with this assessment. As Defendant acknowledges, “AFFILIATED PROPERTIES” is defined as “...any real property owned, managed, leased, or operated by YOU, or by any entity in which YOU hold a direct or indirect ownership interest of 10% or greater, or with which YOU share common officers, directors, employees, or agents, including but not limited to properties managed by or affiliated with PACIFIC APARTMENT HOMES, LLC or BD MANAGEMENT COMPANY, LLC, from January 1, 2022, to the present” in the corresponding Request for Production, Set One. (SROG Opp., p. 8:17-22.) Consequently, although the term is not explicitly defined in Special Interrogatories, Set One, it is sufficiently defined in a related discovery request. Therefore, the request is neither vague, uncertain, nor unintelligible.

As such, Plaintiff’s request to compel a further response to Special Interrogatory No. 24 is GRANTED.

Motion
to Compel Further Responses to Requests for Production, Set One

The Court has examined the papers and the separate statement concerning Requests for Production Nos. 10, 14, 15, 17, 18, 21, and 22. The Court provides categorical analyses of the requests below. Upon careful review, the Court finds that Defendant is obligated to produce some of the requested information.

Requests

for Production Nos. 10 and 21

In Request for Production No. 10, Plaintiff requests: "Produce all notices issued to tenants at the PROPERTY that are substantially similar to the NOTICE, from January 1, 2022, to the present." (RPD Separate Statement, p. 2:2-3.)

In Request for Production No. 21, Plaintiff requests: "Produce all notices issued by YOU for AFFILIATED PROPERTIES citing SUBSTANTIAL REMODEL as grounds for termination from January 1, 2022, to the present." (RPD Separate Statement, p. 8:23-24)

The Court finds good cause to compel the production of the requested documents. As Plaintiff asserts, "Plaintiff alleges that Defendants engaged in a pattern and practice of issuing defective 'substantial remodel' notices. RFP Nos. 10 and 21 seek precisely the documents, i.e. the very notices underlying such conduct, necessary to test that allegation, namely, whether similar notices were issued to other tenants both at the Property and at other affiliated properties." (RPD MTCF, p. 5:1-5.)

Defendant raises objections to these requests on various grounds, including: (1) irrelevance based on "necessity;" (2) overbreadth; and (3) privacy concerns. (RPD Opp., pp. 4:20-7:3.) For the reasons articulated in the motion to compel further responses to special interrogatories, the Court finds these objections to be unfounded.

As such, Plaintiff's requests to compel further responses to Requests for Production Nos. 10 and 21 are GRANTED.

Requests

for Production Nos. 14, 15, 17, 18, and 22

In Request for Production No. 14, Plaintiff requests: "Produce all communications between YOU and Defendant PACIFIC APARTMENT HOMES, LLC RELATING

TO the NOTICE, including its drafting, approval, service, or any planned SUBSTANTIAL REMODEL at the PROPERTY.” (RPD Separate Statement, p. 4:11-13.)

In Request for Production No. 15, Plaintiff requests: “Produce all communications between YOU and Defendant PACIFIC APARTMENT HOMES, LLC RELATING TO permits, applications, or approvals for work on the PROPERTY from January 1, 2022, to present.” (RPD Separate
Statement, p. 5:14-16.)

In Request for Production No. 17, Plaintiff requests: “Produce all communications between YOU and Defendant BD MANAGEMENT COMPANY, LLC RELATING TO the NOTICE, including its drafting, approval, service, or any planned SUBSTANTIAL REMODEL at the PROPERTY.”
(RPD Separate Statement, p. 6:17-19.)

In Request for Production No. 18, Plaintiff requests: “Produce all communications between YOU and Defendant BD MANAGEMENT COMPANY, LLC RELATING TO permits, applications, or approvals for work on the PROPERTY from January 1, 2022, to present.” (RPD Separate
Statement, p. 7:20-22.)

In Request for Production No. 22, Plaintiff requests: “Produce all complaints, lawsuits, disputes, or communications from tenants RELATING TO notices for SUBSTANTIAL REMODELS from January 1, 2022, to the present, including responses or resolutions.”
(RPD Separate Statement, p. 11:15-17.)

In response to each request, Defendant raised objections concerning overbreadth, irrelevance, and privacy, and asserted that the documents are equally accessible to Plaintiff. (RPD Separate Statement, pp. 4:15-5:1, 18-6:4, 21-7:7, 24-8:10, 27-10:21, 11:19-12:12.)

Yet,

Defendant does not provide a defense for these objections. Rather, Defendant contends that it has adequately responded by either indicating that the documents do not exist or that it has produced all materials in its possession. (RPD Opp., pp. 7:14-8:18.) Defendant states:

“After conducting a diligent search and reasonable inquiry, responding party is not in possession, custody, or control of any documents in response to this request. Discovery is ongoing and responding party reserves the right to supplement this response with additional information.” (RPD Separate Statement, pp. 5:2-5, 6:5-8, 7:8-11, 8:11-14, 12:9-12.)

The Court does not find good cause to compel the production of the requested documents. Plaintiff asserts that these documents are necessary due to “a high probability that spoliation occurred here.” (RPD MTCF, p. 7:15.) Plaintiff argues that it is improbable that “not a single email nor text message was exchanged” in light of “today’s modern business climate[.]” (RPD MTCF, p. 7:17-18.) However, Plaintiff’s allegations regarding spoliation lack substantive evidence beyond speculative assertions.

As such, Plaintiff’s request to compel further responses to Requests for Production Nos. 14, 15, 17, 18, and 22 is DENIED.

Requests
for Sanctions

Both parties are requesting monetary sanctions against each other, contending that the opposing party’s arguments lack merit or that the opposing party did not participate in the discovery process in good faith. (SROG MTCF, pp. 7:19-8:9; SROG Opp., pp. 9:8-10:13; RPD MTCF, pp. 7:21-8:5; RPD Opp., pp. 8:19-9:20.) Given the Court’s rulings regarding Plaintiff’s requests for further responses, the imposition of monetary sanctions against either party is unjust. As such, the respective requests for monetary sanctions from both Plaintiff and Defendant are DENIED.
