

		spending an additional four (4) hours reviewing the opposition and drafting a reply to any opposition to this Motion and another two (2) hours preparing for and appearing at the hearing on this Motion for a total of 11.0 hours. At $400 per hour, that amounts to $4,400.00 plus the motion filing fee of $60.00, totaling an additional $4,460.00.” (Decl. of Oh-Kubisch, ¶ 23). However, there is no opposition. Therefore, the court awards a total of four hours, for an additional total of $2,400. The total award is $20,111. Costs Plaintiff has already filed a memorandum of costs, and this court ruled on Defendants’ motion to tax costs on 5/21/26, deducting a total of $473. Accordingly, the total cost award is $1,134. Plaintiff shall give notice.
5	Lam vs. Bui	Defendants Hong Bui and Yen Hai Bui’s Motion for Protective Order is DENIED. Standard for Issuance of Protective Order Pursuant to sections 2017.020, subdivision (a) and 2025.420, subdivision (a) of the Code of Civil Procedure, a party may move for a protective order to protect it from unwarranted annoyance, embarrassment, or oppression, or undue burden and expense, or if the Court determines the burden, expense, or intrusiveness of that discovery clearly outweighs the likelihood that the information sought will lead to the discovery of admissible evidence. The party seeking the protective order must show good cause for whatever order is sought. (Nativi v. Deutsche Bank National Trust Co. (2014) 223 Cal.App.4th 261, 318; see GT, Inc. v. Superior Court (1984) 151 Cal.App.3d 748, 754 [“the party seeking the protective order is required to meet the usual burden of showing ‘good cause’ ”].) Defendants Did Not Comply With their Obligation to Meet-and-Confer Prior to Filing the Motion When a party seeks a protective order, whether under section 2017.020 or 2025.420 of the Code of Civil Procedure, the Motion “shall be accompanied by a meet and confer declaration under Section 2016.040.” (Code Civ. Proc., §§ 2017.020, subd. (a), 2025.420, subd. (a).) In turn, the present version of section 2016.040 of the Code of Civil Procedure requires the parties meet and confer, “either in person, by telephone, or by video conference....” (Code Civ. Proc., § 2016.040, subd. (a), italics added.)
