Case Number: 24SMCV04692 Hearing Date: September 4, 2026 Dept: I

Plaintiff seeks a stay.

Plaintiff asserts that there is another case—originally filed back in 2016—that is intertwined with this one. The cases were earlier related, but after plaintiff filed a 170.6 against the other judge, Department 1 unrelated the cases.

The other case has gone to trial and is now on appeal. According to plaintiff, many of the issues raised here are at issue there.

Specifically, plaintiffs here claim conversion based on defendant's cashing of old checks for rent that plaintiffs assert was no longer due or truly owing. The jury apparently went the other way in the other case. The court agrees that it makes sense to allow the appeal to run its course. That decision might moot this case, or it might at least moot out some issues. Any rulings there would likely be res judicata or collateral estoppel here once final. Therefore, the court will VACATE

THE FSC AND TRIAL DATES. The court will set a status conference for a time after the appeal ought to be over. However, this is not a stay. All other deadlines remain in place, and discovery is not stayed absent stipulation of the parties approved by the court or motion.
