

		Plaintiff moves, under CCP section 483.010, for the issuance of a writ of attachment against Defendant in the amount of $100,000.00. Defendant proffers evidence that Debenture No. 1 includes an arbitration provision, which provides, in relevant part, that “any claim, dispute, or controversy of whatever nature arising out of or relating to this Debenture, including, without limitation, any action or claim based on tort, contract, or statute . . . shall be resolved by final and binding arbitration ... before a single arbitrator ... selected from and administered by JAMS Inc.” (ROA 75—Ye Decl. at ¶ 8, Exh. 1 [Debenture No. 2 at § 15].) Additionally, Defendant has filed a motion to compel arbitration and to stay proceedings. (ROA 67.) Defendant contends Plaintiff has failed to meet the standard required for obtaining provisional relief when a dispute is subject to arbitration. CCP section 1281.8 provides, in relevant part, that: “A party to an arbitration agreement may file in the court in the county in which an arbitration proceeding is pending, or if an arbitration proceeding has not commenced, in any proper court, an application for a provisional remedy in connection with an arbitrable controversy, but only upon the ground that the award to which the applicant may be entitled may be rendered ineffectual without provisional relief.” (Code Civ. Proc., § 1281.8, subd. (a), emphasis added.) There is no dispute that Defendant is in the process of selling certain real property in Texas and intends to use the proceeds to repay its creditors. Plaintiff has not shown that the arbitration award to which it may be entitled would be “rendered ineffectual” without provisional relief. The application is denied without prejudice to Plaintiff seeking renewal if such facts can be stated. Defendant shall give notice of the ruling.
7.	2021-1231301 Gulham vs. Younge	The Court grants Cross-Defendant Yama Gulham’s unopposed Motion for judgment on the pleadings as to the third cause of action for malicious prosecution in Cross-Complainants Michael A. Younge and Amany Simmonds’ Cross-Complaint. Younge and Simmonds chose not to oppose this Motion, thereby acknowledging its merit. (Herzberg v. County of Plumas (2005) 133 Cal.App.4th 1, 20.) The Court notes that a First Amended Cross-Complaint was filed on 3/6/23. (ROA 97.) But this was filed while an Anti-SLAPP motion was pending. A plaintiff (or cross-complaint) is not permitted to amend the complaint before the hearing on the anti-SLAPP motion. (Salma v. Capon (2008) 161 Cal.App.4th 1275, 1280.) Thus, the First Amended Cross-Complaint is improper and stricken.

Moving to the merits, a motion by defendant (or cross-defendant) be made on the grounds that the complaint (or any cause of action therein) “does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action against that defendant.” (CCP § 438(c).)

The Cross-Complaint alleges in relevant part that the Complaint in this case was maliciously prosecuted.

“To establish a cause of action for the malicious prosecution of a civil proceeding, a plaintiff must plead and prove that the prior action (1) was commenced by or at the direction of the defendant and was pursued to a legal termination in his, plaintiff’s, favor; (2) was brought without probable cause; and (3) was initiated with malice.” (Bertero v. National General Corp. (1974) 13 Cal.3d 43, 50, internal citations omitted.) “A claim for malicious prosecution need not be addressed to an entire lawsuit; it may ... be based upon only some of the causes of action alleged in the underlying lawsuit.” (Franklin Mint Co. v. Manatt, Phelps & Phillips, LLP (2010) 184 Cal.App.4th 313, 333.)

“[F]avorable termination requires favorable resolution of the underlying action in its entirety, not merely a single cause of action. ‘[I]f the defendant in the underlying action prevails on all of the plaintiff’s claims, he or she may successfully sue for malicious prosecution if any one of those claims was subjectively malicious and objectively unreasonable. But if the underlying plaintiff succeeds on any of his or her claims, the favorable termination requirement is unsatisfied and the malicious prosecution action cannot be maintained.’ “ (Citizens of Humanity, LLC v. Ramirez (2021) 63 Cal.App.5th 117, 128, internal citation omitted; Ray v. First Federal Bank (1998) 61 Cal.App.4th 315, 319, favorable termination may depend on appellate proceedings after initial decision in the trial court has been recognized in other cases; see e.g. Daon Corp. v. Place Homeowners’ Ass’n (1989) 207 Cal.App.3d 1449, 1456—order dismissing cross-complaint against third party not appealable “final judgment” because third party still remained in action in same and different capacities.)

Here, the Cross-Complaint fails to allege all elements of the malicious prosecution claim. The Court therefore grants the unopposed Motion. Younge and Simmonds have failed to show how they could amend to state a claim. Thus, leave to amend is denied.

Gulham is ordered to serve notice.

10.	2025-1474963 Hood vs. Avis Budget Car Rental, LLC	Defendant Avis Budget Car Rental, LLC's ("Avis") Motion to Dismiss is granted. Avis's request for judicial notice (ROA 71) is granted. (Evid. Code § 452, subd. (d).) Avis moves, under CCP section 391, to dismiss the action, with prejudice, on the grounds that Hood "is a vexatious litigant, subject to a prefiling order" and "was required to obtain an order from the presiding judge to bring this action," but did not fulfill this requirement. (Mot. at p. 3.) A "vexatious litigant" is defined to include any person, "[i]n any litigation while acting in propria persona," who "repeatedly files unmeritorious motions, pleadings, or other papers, conducts unnecessary discovery, or engages in other tactics that are frivolous or solely intended to cause unnecessary delay." (Code Civ. Proc., § 391, subd. (b)(3).) Where a person is found to be a "vexatious litigant," the court may "enter a prefiling order which prohibits a vexatious litigant from filing any new litigation in the courts of this state in propria persona without first obtaining leave of the presiding justice or presiding judge of the court where the litigation is proposed to be filed. Disobedience of the order by a vexatious litigant may be punished as a contempt of court." (Code Civ. Proc., § 391.7, subd. (a).) If such an order is entered, the presiding judge or justice "shall permit the filing of that litigation only if it appears that the litigation has merit and has not been filed for the purposes of harassment or delay"; security may also be required. (Code Civ. Proc., § 391.7, subd. (b).) The clerk may not file any litigation presented by a vexatious litigant subject to a prefiling order "unless the vexatious litigant first obtains an order from the presiding justice or presiding judge permitting the filing." However, if the clerk "mistakenly files the litigation without the order, any party may file with the clerk and serve, or the presiding justice or presiding judge may direct the clerk to file and serve, on the plaintiff and other parties a notice stating that the plaintiff is a vexatious litigant subject to a prefiling order as set forth in subdivision (a)." (Code Civ. Proc., § 391.7, subd. (c).) "The filing of the notice shall automatically stay the litigation." Unless the plaintiff obtains an order from the presiding justice or presiding judge permitting the filing of the litigation, within 10 days of the filing of that notice, the litigation "shall be automatically dismissed." (Id.) Here, Avis has proffered uncontroverted evidence that Hood is subject to a prefiling order entered in Los Angeles Superior Court on or about 3/28/16. (ROA 71.) The record also reflects that, on or about 2/2/26, Avis gave written notice that Hood is a vexatious litigant subject to a prefiling order. (ROA 75.)
