TENTATIVE RULINGS ARE NOT POSTED IN UNLAWFUL DETAINER CASES

Notice to prevailing parties: Local Rule 2.10.01 requires you to submit a proposed formal order incorporating, verbatim, the language of any tentative ruling – or attaching and incorporating the tentative by reference - or an order consistent with the announced ruling of the Court, in accordance with California Rule of Court 3.1312. Such proposed order is required even if the prevailing party submitted a proposed order prior to the hearing with two exceptions: (1) in unopposed matters where the moving party has provided a detailed proposed order or JCC form of order, or (2) where the tentative is simply to “grant”. Failure to comply with Local Rule 2.10.01 may result in the imposition of sanctions following an order to show cause hearing, if a proposed order is not timely filed.

RICE v. McDONALD, et al.

(UNOPPOSED) PLAINTIFF’S MOTION TO COMPEL PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS

The unopposed motion is granted. Defendant Tyler Colby shall serve responsive documents to the four categories of outstanding records in compliance with plaintiff’s civil subpoena for personal appearance and production of documents. (Motion, Exs. 2 and 3.) The documents shall be delivered to plaintiff within fifteen (15) days of service of the order on this motion. Plaintiff shall first resubmit a proposed order that includes the four categories of documents, so that defendant need not refer to any other document to determine what he is required to produce.

PORTFOLIO RECOVERY ASSOC. LLC v. GERRITSON

(UNOPPOSED) PLAINTIFF’S MOTION FOR JUDGMENT ON THE PLEADINGS

The motion is continued to August 21, 2026, so that plaintiff can re-file its proof of service for the motion. The proof in the court record is illegible and does not establish that it was duly served on defendant. No further briefing is permitted by either party.

MANZO v. PANDEY et al.

DEFENDANTS DAVID LYNG & ASSOCIATES, INC. AND GENEVA LAWLESS'S MOTION FOR MONETARY, EVIDENTIARY AND TERMINATING SANCTIONS

Defendants/cross-complainants David Lyng & Associates, Inc. and Geneva Lawless's motion is granted. The court orders plaintiffs to fully comply with its order of March 27, 2026, no later than August 21, 2026, and to pay defendants David Lyng & Associates and Geneva Lawless additional monetary sanctions of $1,000.00, payable by that same date. In the event plaintiffs again fail to timely comply with these orders, the court intends to impose evidentiary and/or terminating sanctions on motion by defendants.

Plaintiffs Michael Manzo and Cynthia Manzo ("plaintiffs") were ordered to serve code-compliant verified responses and documents without objections to form interrogatories (set one), special interrogatories (set one), and request for production of documents (set one) no later than April 24, 2026. Further, the court deemed admitted all matters specified in the requests for admission, set one, which would become the order of the court if plaintiffs failed to serve, before the hearing on the motion, proposed code-compliant responses to the requests for admissions.

(Code Civ. Proc., section 2033.280, subd. (b).) The court also imposed monetary sanctions against plaintiffs in the amount of $2,000.00, payable no later than April 24, 2026. (Code Civ. Proc., §§ 2030.290, subd. (c), 2033.280, subd. (c).)

On April 24, 2026, plaintiffs served amended responses to the requests for admissions, but failed to comply with the remainder of the court order. Defendants now move for terminating sanctions in the form of striking the second amended complaint against these defendants, or in the alternative, further monetary sanctions of $6,000.00 (14 hours at $375.00/hour).

Counsel for plaintiffs declares his clients served responses to the interrogatories and requests for production on July 1, 2026, but did not pay the sanctions until very recently (mistakenly believing the court's ruling became an order only upon counsel's compliance with CRC 3.1312 or Local Rule 3.108). He declares he sent the check on or about July 27, 2026. Counsel concedes his clients have not produced any documents yet, as "the process of going through the documents is taking a long time." (Eschen Declaration, ¶¶ 2-5.)

LOPEZ-CISNEROS v. YANNONE

DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO STRIKE COMPLAINT

The motion is granted.

This is a motor vehicle collision case. Plaintiff claims defendant caused the December 30, 2024 collision on Lockwood Lane in Scotts Valley by speeding and using a cell phone while driving. Plaintiff states claims for negligence, negligence per se, and statutory liability pursuant to Vehicle Code sections 17150 et seq. ("permissive use doctrine").

Defendant seeks to strike plaintiff's claims for punitive damages on the ground he has failed to plead any cause of action supporting malice, oppression, or fraud.

California Code of Civil Procedure section 436, provides: "[t]he court may, upon a motion made pursuant to Section 435, or at any time in its discretion, and upon terms it deems proper: (a) Strike out any irrelevant, false, or improper matter inserted in any pleading." "Motions to strike can be used to reach defects in or objections to pleadings that are not challengeable by demurrer. Complaints, cross-complaints, answers and demurrers are all subject to a motion to strike (Code Civ. Proc., § 435, subd. (a)(2)).¹ The grounds for a motion to strike must appear on the face of the pleadings under attack, or from matter which the court may judicially notice. (§ 437; CPF Agency Corp. v. R&S Towing Service (2005) 132 Cal.App.4th 1014, 1032.)

In order to state a prima facie claim for punitive damages, a complaint must set forth the elements that the defendant is guilty of oppression, fraud or malice. (§ 3294(a); College Hospital, Inc. v. Superior Court (1994) 8 Cal.4th 704, 721.)

“Malice is defined in the statute as conduct intended by the defendant to cause injury to the plaintiff or despicable conduct which is carried on by the defendant with a willful and conscious disregard of the rights or safety of others.” (Id. at 725.) “As amended to include [despicable], the statute plainly indicates that absent an intent to injure the plaintiff, ‘malice’ requires more than a ‘willful and conscious’ disregard of the plaintiffs’ interests. The additional component of ‘despicable conduct’ must be found.” (Ibid.) The statute’s reference to despicable conduct represents a “new substantive limitation on punitive damage awards.” (Ibid.) Despicable conduct is “conduct which is so vile, base, contemptible, miserable, wretched or loathsome that it would be looked down upon and despised by ordinary decent people. Such conduct has been described as ‘having the character of outrage frequently associated with crime.’” (Tomaselli v. Transamerica Ins. Co. (1994) 25 Cal.App.4th 1269, 1287.)

“In order to survive a motion to strike an allegation of punitive damages, the ultimate facts showing an entitlement to such relief must be pled.” (Clauson v. Superior Court (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 1253, 1255.) “The mere allegation an intentional tort was committed is not sufficient to warrant an award of punitive damages. [Citation.] Not only must there be circumstances of oppression, fraud or malice, but facts must be alleged in the pleading to support such a claim. [Citation.]” (Grieves v. Superior Court (1984) 157 Cal.App.3d 159, 166.)

The Court finds plaintiff’s allegations are insufficient to support any claim for punitive damages; all that is alleged is negligence. (Complaint, ¶¶ 10-39.) Plain unintentional carelessness, characterized as negligence or recklessness, is not sufficient to support punitive damages. (Nolin v. National Convenience Stores, Inc. (1979) 95 Cal.App.3d 279, 285-286 [“Conduct classified only as unintentional carelessness, while it may constitute negligence or even gross negligence, will not support an award of punitive damages”]; G. D. Searle & Co. v. Superior Court (1975) 49 Cal.App.3d 22, 32 (“When nondeliberate injury is charged, allegations that the defendant’s conduct was wrongful, willful, wanton, reckless or unlawful do not support a claim for exemplary damages; such allegations do not charge malice”].)
