Additionally, the Court requires further evidence as to why the settlors' intent that each trust always have a corporate trustee/co-trustee should not be honored. There is a general statement that the principal of each trust is not significant, and that continuing to employ a corporate trustee is not in the best interest of the beneficiaries of the estate, as trustee fees will materially reduce the distributions to the beneficiaries as well as increase the time to complete administration. Without knowing the value of the trust estate, and the cost of a corporate fiduciary, the court is in no position to override the very clear directions in each trust. Each of the three trusts contains language identical to that found in the Linda Jakowatz Living Trust at Article 12, Section 4 & 5:

Section 4: Unless [Trust maker's]spouse is serving as trustee, there shall always be a corporate fiduciary serving as Trustee for any trust created under this agreement.

Section 5: Any corporate fiduciary named in this trust agreement or appointed by a court of competent jurisdiction as a Trustee must be a bank or trust company situated in the United States having trust powers under applicable federal or state law. Such fiduciary shall have a combined capital and surplus of at least 800 million dollars.

The Court understands why the beneficiaries seek the relief, but it does not have enough legal support to grant it, in light of the very clear intent of the settlors. Petitioners may file a supplement in each matter, with any declarations in support thereof properly executed.
