Case Number: 24SMCV03911 Hearing Date: September 3, 2026 Dept: I

This is a motion for a protective order brought by plaintiff. It is opposed. Earlier in the case, plaintiff had responded to discovery and sat for a deposition.

Defendant then served a second round of discovery including 93 special interrogatories, 48 requests for production, another set of form interrogatories, and a request for a second day of deposition. Plaintiff states that this is over the top and abusive. Plaintiff claims that there was a meet and confer effort, but it was not productive. Plaintiff states that some additional discovery is not necessarily unwarranted, but that this is not proper.

The court previously heard this matter and ordered the parties to conduct further meet and confer efforts. No one has filed anything.

The court will inquire as to the meet and confer efforts that were made, but it is unlikely that the court will rule today given the lack of supplemental papers regarding the meet and confer. The court is hopeful that this is because the parties have worked out their differences.
