3	Ticey vs. JPMorgan Chase Bank N. A.	The Motion for Preliminary Injunction brought by Plaintiffs Troy Ticey and Cynthia Ticey is DENIED. An injunction may be granted “[w]hen it appears by the complaint that the plaintiff is entitled to the relief demanded, and the relief, or any part thereof, consists in restraining the commission or continuance of the act complained of...” (Code Civ. Proc., § 526, subd. (a)(1).) “In deciding whether to issue a preliminary injunction, a court must weigh two ‘interrelated’ factors: (1) the likelihood that the moving party will ultimately prevail on the merits and (2) the relative interim harm to the parties from issuance or nonissuance of the injunction.” (Butt v. State of California (1992) 4 Cal.4th 668, 677-678.) “The trial court’s determination must be guided by a ‘mix’ of the potential-merit and interim-harm factors; the greater the plaintiff’s showing on one, the less must be shown on the other to support an injunction.” (Butt v. State of California (1992) 4 Cal.4th 668, 678.) “Of course, ‘[t]he scope of available preliminary relief is necessarily limited by the scope of the relief likely to be obtained at trial on the merits.’” (Ibid.) “A trial court may not grant a preliminary injunction, regardless of the balance of interim harm, unless there is some possibility that the plaintiff would ultimately prevail on the merits of the claim.” (Ibid.) The burden is on Plaintiffs, as the parties seeking injunctive relief, “to show all elements necessary to support issuance of a preliminary injunction.” (O’Connell v. Superior Court (2006) 141 Cal.App.4th 1452, 1481.) Primarily, in seeking a preliminary injunction, Plaintiffs assert the Deed of trust is defective and void. Plaintiffs offer the Declaration of Mrs. Cynthia Ticey, wherein she states that she “never executed or signed the Promissory Note for the WaMu Mortgage Plus™ loan,” that “[t]he Deed of Trust (Exhibit 23-28) misidentifies me as ‘Cynthia L. Di Meo,’” and that “the notarization is fraudulent.” (See ¶2-¶3 of Cynthia Ticey Declaration [ROA No. 142].) Plaintiffs dispute the validity of the Deed of Trust, given the use of Mrs. Ticey’s maiden name; however, Plaintiffs nonetheless concede that Mrs. Ticey signed the document. (See Motion: 3:26-28 [ROA No. 142] [“Cynthia L. Ticey, who signed only the Deed of Trust and not the Note...”].)
