CASE NO.: 22STCV00229

[TENTATIVE] ORDER GRANTING IN PART PLAINTIFFS'
MOTION FOR ATTORNEY FEES, COSTS, AND EXPENSES

Dept. 506

8:30 a.m.

JULY 21, 2026

On

January 4, 2022, Plaintiffs filed a complaint alleging claims under the Song Beverly Act. Plaintiffs alleged (1) violation of subdivision (d) of Civil Code section 1793.2; (2) violation of subdivision (b) of Civil Code section 1793.2; (3) violation of subdivision (a)(3) of Civil Code section 1793.2; and (4) breach of implied warranty of merchantability (Civil Code §§1791.1, 1794 and 1795.5).

Plaintiffs'

request for judicial notice of other trial court orders is denied. The federal orders are unpublished and nonbinding, and the trial court orders are unpublished and nonprecedential. (See Santa Ana Hospital Medical Center v. Belshe (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 819, 831 ["a written trial court ruling has no precedential value"].)

Plaintiffs'

evidentiary objections are overruled.

DISCUSSION

As

the prevailing party, Plaintiffs are entitled to an award of reasonable attorney fees and expenses. (Civ. Code, § 1794, subd.

(d).) Plaintiffs request a total of $59,186.45, consisting of (1) $38,224.50 attorney fees, (2) $13,378.58 as a 1.35 lodestar enhancement,

(3) $3,583.47 in costs and expenses; and (4) an additional $4,000 for

Plaintiffs' counsel to review Defendants' opposition and to draft a reply. (Motion at p. i.) Defendant does not dispute Plaintiffs' entitlement to fees and only asks that Plaintiffs' fees be reduced to $10,498.05

A. Attorney Fees

California

courts apply the "lodestar" approach to determine what attorney fees are reasonable. (See, e.g., Holguin v. DISH Network LLC (2014) 229 Cal.App.4th 1310, 1332.) This inquiry "begins with the 'lodestar,' i.e., the number of hours reasonably expended multiplied by the reasonable hourly rate."

(PLCM Group v. Drexler (2000) 22 Cal.4th 1084, 1095.) From there, the "lodestar figure may then be adjusted, based on consideration of factors specific to the case, in order to fix the fee at the fair market value for the legal services provided." (Ibid.) Relevant factors include "(1) the novelty and difficulty of the questions involved, (2) the skill displayed in presenting them,

(3) the extent to which the nature of the litigation precluded other employment by the attorneys, [and] (4) the contingent nature of the fee award." (Ketchum v. Moses (2001) 24 Cal.4th 1122, 1132.) The party seeking fees has the burden of documenting the appropriate hours expended and hourly rates. (City of Colton v. Singletary (2012) 206 Cal.App.4th 751, 784.)

Plaintiffs

provide a copy of counsel's billing records, which show 74.5 hours billed over three years of litigation. (Shahian Decl., ¶26, Ex. 1.) Plaintiff's counsel charges various hourly rates from $360 to $875. (Shahian Decl. ¶26.) These rates are generally reasonable for experienced attorneys in Los Angeles specializing in these types of cases.

(The rates above $600 are doubtful in the Court's view.) But because they are experienced with Song-Beverly litigation, the higher rate attorneys should be more efficient in these types of cases than less experienced attorneys.

The

number of staff on the case indicates inefficiencies. Plaintiffs acknowledge that 19 attorneys staffed the case, but “only 6 attorneys. . . accounted for 43.7 hours out of the 74.5 total hours billed (60%).” (Motion at p. 6, fn. 8.) With so many attorneys working on the case, there were some inefficiencies when each new attorney needed to review the case file to learn the case. The billing records also reflect inefficiencies in the number of hours for certain tasks, such as drafting boilerplate discovery requests and motions. The Court has seen many similar actions brought by Plaintiffs’ counsel Strategic Legal Practices, APC. The complaints, discovery issues, and fee motions are similar across the cases brought by Plaintiffs’ counsel. Therefore, less time is needed to draft these documents, and some deduction is warranted. (See Opposition at pp. 5-8.) Defendant also identifies numerous entries that required an unreasonably excessive amount of time given the nature of the task and the ultimate outcome of the work. (Id. at pp. 7-8.)

Plaintiffs

request an additional lodestar multiplier of 1.35. “[A] trial court should award a multiplier for exceptional representation only when the quality of representation far exceeds the quality of representation that would have been provided by an attorney of comparable skill and experience billing at the hourly rate used in the lodestar calculation.” (Ketchum, supra, 24 Cal.4th at p. 1139.) This matter was not noticeably different from other lemon law cases, did not involve complex or novel legal issues warranting a multiplier, and Plaintiffs’ counsel has extensive experience litigating similar matters. Despite the length of time from case inception to settlement, there are no indications that Plaintiffs’ counsel engaged in any actions different from a typical strategy to achieve this result.

The

Court declines to add a positive multiplier. Instead, the Court will apply a negative multiplier of 0.8 (20% reduction) due to the inefficiencies caused by overstaffing and excessive billing for boilerplate items. (Cash v. County of Los Angeles (2025) 111 Cal.App.5th 741, 749.)

Considering

the type of case, complexity of the case, length of litigation, and the record as a whole, the Court concludes that a reasonable amount of attorney fees is $33,779.60 ($42,224.50 minus $8,444.90).

C. Costs and Expenses

argues that all costs should be stricken because Plaintiffs did not file a memorandum of costs and it is not possible to determine what was reasonable. (Opposition at pp. 12-13.)

prevailing plaintiff in a Song-Beverly action may recover all "costs and expenses . . . determined by the court to have been reasonably incurred by the buyer in connection with the commencement and prosecution of such action." (Code Civ. Proc., § 1794, subd. (d).) "[I]t is clear the Legislature intended the word 'expenses' to cover items not included in the detailed statutory definition of 'costs.'" (Jensen v. BMW of North America, Inc. (1995) 35 Cal.App.4th 112, 137.)

Plaintiffs'

costs and expenses are reasonable, and Defendant's opposition does not provide any grounds to strike the costs and expenses.

CONCLUSION

The

motion for attorney fees and costs is GRANTED IN PART. The Court awards Plaintiffs $33,779.60 in attorney fees and $3,583.17 in costs and expenses.
