TENTATIVE

The

request for default judgment submitted on February 24, 2026, is DENIED for the following reasons:

The

total judgment to be entered on the CIV-100 form and the JUD-100 form differ. In Section 2 of the CIV-100 form, Petitioner Farzad Nourollah ("Nourollah") requests judgment totaling $258,366.09; the Court notes this amount is lesser than the sum of the other categories, totaling $264,886.61, outlined in the same section. The JUD-100 form requests judgment of $264,866.61. Although it is likely the CIV-100 form total is a mistake, Nourollah must submit uniform numbers across form to allow the Court to confirm the requested judgment.

Nourollah

also failed to provide sufficient interest calculation, as required by California Rules of Court rule 3.18000, subdivision (a)(3). Although Nourollah provided all of the figures associated with the requested interest, Nourollah did not show any of the calculation involved in reaching those figures. Any new default judgment packet should show, at the least, how Nourollah calculated the daily interest figure.

The

OSC re entry of default judgment is continued to the court's next available date in approximately 60 days. No later than 15 days before the new hearing date, Nourollah is to submit a new default judgment package correcting these defects. Failure to do so may result in the imposition of sanctions, including monetary sanctions and/or dismissal.
